Panic Follows Fantastic Broadcast, Brings Demand for Investigation

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A horrible fantasy of war waged on the United States by fearsome, space-conquering men from Mars brought near panic to that part of the nation's radio audience which was not tuned in last night on Charlie McCarthy's rival radio program.

In the double-quick tempo of the news broadcasters, the fiction of a Columbia program became so realistic that hysteria prevailed among listeners throughout the United States and Canada.

Demands for investigation and correction came apace today with the belated reports of almost fantastic panic.

Sen. Clyde L. Herring (D-Ia) said he planned to introduce in congress a bill "controlling just such abuses as was heard over the radio last night. . . . Radio has no more right to present programs like that than someone has in knocking on your door and screaming," he added.

City Manager Paul [illegible] Simpson, H. G. State Museum [illegible] L., near the locale of the fictional invasion, said he would demand an investigation by the Federal Communications commission "with the view of preventing recurrence of what happened."

Some apartment houses in New York were emptied hurriedly by frantic listeners to the program—and by second and third hand accounts that multiplied the impending peril.

A woman in Pittsburgh tried suicide, saying "I'd rather die this way than like that."

At a high point in the program the electric power failed at Concrete, Wash., a town of 1,000, and the lights went out. Many thought the invasion had reached the west coast. Women fainted and men prepared to take their families to the mountains.

Switchboards in newspaper offices and police stations everywhere were swamped with calls from terrified people, many of them weeping.

Some reported they could smell the gas and see the flames started by the attackers.

People gathered in groups to pray for salvation.

All over the metropolitan area, panicky persons jumped into their automobiles and headed for the open spaces to escape the hypothetical bombing of New York.

Church services here and elsewhere were broken up by intruders who screamed the world was coming to an end.

The hysteria subsided almost as quickly as it started.

Mansfield Excited But Not Scared

Mansfield was excited but not scared by the broadcast last night which told of a fictitious invasion of the United States by strange men from Mars.

Scores of calls were received by police and The News-Journal. Police Lieut. Paul Whipp didn't know about the broadcast until it was over. At The News-Journal, callers said the radio program had mentioned "Associated Press dispatches."

"Haven't you heard about it?" one caller asked. "Well, turn on your radio. They think the planes are from Mars!"

Nazis Laugh at 'Hysterical' America

BERLIN—(INS)—If Americans fall so easily for a fantastic radio broadcast of an "invasion from Mars," that explains why they so readily believe Nazi "atrocity" tales, Der Angriff said today.

"What is the lesson?" Der Angriff wanted to know about the wave of American mass hysteria.

"Let us weep for our American contemporaries, who accept such atrocities as true. Naivete is a gift of God, but it should not be abused. How much less naivete is required to accept as true atrocity stories about Nazi Germany.

PARK METERS PLAN TO FACE COUNCIL AGAIN

Request for Devices One of 2 Major Issues on Docket for Tomorrow.

CHIEF ASKS 2-WAY RADIO

Seeks Purchase of $700 in Equipment for City's Police Cruisers.

Two important requests are among the numerous pieces of legislation and petitions which will come before city council when it convenes in regular session tomorrow night.

They are:

1—An appropriation ordinance for $700, authorizing the purchase of two-way radio equipment for the police department.

2—A petition from the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants association requesting the installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield.

Asks 4 Transmitters.

The appropriation ordinance will be presented by Police Chief Meade K. Bates who will ask council to provide the funds for the installation of four ultra high frequency transmitters in the city's police cruisers.

The equipment sought by the chief is designed to augment the regular short wave receivers now in operation and which are limited to receiving messages.

The parking meter request calls for the immediate installation of the machines on a "trial" basis as a means of traffic control on downtown streets.

Would Pay For More Police.

The petition presented by merchants and the Chamber of Commerce recommends that revenue from the machines could be used for the employment of three more patrolmen.

The request was forwarded to council following a meeting of the two organizations with Councilman-at-large James E. Crum, chairman of council's parking meter committee 10 days ago.

Council's parking meter committee has had the parking meter request under advisement for the past year and a half.

Roosevelt Comes Out for Dem Ticket in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Accusing Judge Arthur H. James of misusing his name in connection with the jurist's gubernatorial campaign, President Roosevelt today had endorsed the Democratic state ticket of Gov. George H. Earle for U. S. senator and Charles Alvin Jones for governor in the Nov. 8 elections.

The president defined his position in a letter to Michael Francis Doyle, prominent Phialdelphia attorney and member of the permanent court of arbitration at the Hague.

Recognizing the fact there are "local and personal issues wholly distinct from the national issues," Mr. Roosevelt wrote:

"But in my own relations with the Earle administration, I can truthfully say that I have found it at all times willing and eager to help in carrying into effect a liberal program for social and economic justice."

PINNED AGAINST OWN MACHINE

Driver Suffers Fractured Leg; One of 2 Hurt in County; 8 Killed in State.

Two persons were injured in week-end traffic accidents in the Mansfield area while at least eight Ohioans died in traffic and airplane crashes.

Hurt in Mansfield were Ray Kiehl, 37, Averill avenue, who suffered a fractured leg when he was pinned between two cars on Bowman street, and David Talbot, jr., 15, of 720 Woodhill road, struck by an automobile on Park avenue west Saturday night.

Deputy Sheriff C. C. Gongwer said Kiehl was pinned against his own car Sunday afternoon by an automobile driven by Marie Anna Stabe of 477 South Diamond street. Kiehl was examining a flat tire on his car when he was struck by the other machine, Gongwer said.

He was taken to General hospital where his condition was reported as satisfactory.

The Political Parade---

Claims Davey Offered Bricker 'Deal' to 10

Sawyer Gives Name of Highway Engineers In Newest Charge of 70-30 Patronage Split, Sees Victory By 150,000 Votes.

COLUMBUS—As major candidates in the political campaign went into the home stretch today Charles L. Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, predicted he would win by 150,000 votes as he made public the names of ten state highway department engineers whom he said had been asked by Governor Martin L. Davey to support John W. Bricker's candidacy for governor.

In a statement issued from his temporary headquarters in Cleveland today Sawyer said that the engineers had been told personally by Davey, who was defeated at the primary polls by Sawyer, that "if Mr. Bricker is elected our personal friends will be taken care of."

The statement, backed by sworn affidavits, followed Sawyer's claim on Saturday that he

SPORT WHINES AS RESCUERS USE DYNAMITE

Blast Mountainside to Reach Dog, Held Prisoner in Pit for 10 Days.

SLIDE FOOD DOWN A POLE

15 West Virginians Work Day and Night to Save Life of Community Pet.

(By United Press)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va.—The thunder of dynamite blasts on Spelter mountain today carried for miles the report that a crew of loyal men and women were about to rescue Sport, five-year-old beagle hound trapped in a narrow fissure for 12 days.

Sport is "everybody's dog." When any of the neighbors and friends of Howard Walls, 19, Sport's master, want to go hunting, they have only to whistle at Sport and he will trot along with them.

Thus it was that, when Sport fell into one of the countless sink holes on Spelter mountain, almost the entire population of the tiny community of Spelter turned out to help in the dog's rescue. A permanent rescue crew of 15 has never stopped working to get to the dog in 10 days.

Use Dynamite.

Sport's would-be rescuers, unemployed miners, changed their tactics today on advice of a mining engineer. Whereas they have been cutting and chipping away at the solid rock for 30 feet, they decided to blast into the rock below the fissure to cause a slide that would open the dog's natural prison.

They hoped to reach Sport today or tomorrow.

They knew Sport was alive because they could hear his faint whining. They were able to slide food down to him through a three-inch hole. Jack Walls, 14, brother of Howard, tied a glove to a long pole and poked it to the dog to give it encouragement.

Chasing Legendary Fox.

Some said that Sport was trapped while chasing a three-legged fox that is a legend around Spelter mountain.

Mrs. Ethel Burton, who owned Sport when he was a pup and gave him to Walls, was asked how the fox could get away and the nimble Sport be trapped.

"That there fox knows these here hills better than Hitler knows Germany," Mrs. Burton replied.

The rescue work is dangerous because of cave-ins and slides. The only casualty so far was Tony Isabella, whose hand was smashed in a two-ton cave-in. But it didn't keep Tony from the rescue work.

Warrants Out For Their Arrest

A warrant charging Flem Tackett, 34, with rape was signed by Judge Ewin P. Hill of Prestonsburg, Ky., today following an investigation of Tackett's marriage to 10-year-old Rose Columbus His child-bride was charged with being a delinquent. The girl's mother, Mrs. Grace Columbus, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of her daughter. Tackett and his bride are shown in the above photo taken soon after their marriage in the Kentucky hills last week. The arrest warrants were to be served today.

AGAIN HOLDS STATE FAILS TO OBEY RULES

Board Answers Legislative Committee's Plea, Points to 'Needless Suffering.'

HITS DAVEY'S STAND

Declares Governor Remains Non-Committal on Changes Demanded in System.

WASHINGTON — The Social Security Board said today it was unable to find, in effect, that Ohio was complying with its regulations and therefore was still ineligible to receive federal funds for old age pensions.

In a public statement which also was addressed to an unofficial committee of the Ohio legislature, the board said:

"The board is unable to make a finding that there is no longer a failure to comply with the provisions of the Social Security act, which finding is necessary before the board can certify a grant to the Secretary of Treasury."

Aid for 11,000 Withheld.

The board had withheld an October grant of federal funds for old age pensions for 111,000 persons in Ohio after finding there were administrative deficiencies in the state's division of aid for the aged.

Board officials said a communication had been received from an unofficial committee of the Ohio legislature inquiring as to the prospect of renewal of grant to the state.

In its reply, the board said it "deeply regrets the needless suffering caused by the failure of the Ohio division of aid for the aged to furnish the information necessary for the Social Security board to make a finding."

The board's statement follows:

"In September immediately after Mr. Wray Bevens was appointed

You Can Bet Those Goblins Tonight Aren't From Mars

It's Halloween and Spooks Will Get Chance to Strut As City Revives Traditional Celebration.

If you should see strange creatures wandering around Mansfield's business section tonight, don't get excited and think it's the invasion of an army from Mars, as radio listeners did last night all over America. Just remember that it is Oct. 31, and the proper time for ghosts and goblins to roam the streets.

There may be hundreds of them tonight as the annual Halloween parade, a traditional Mansfield celebration which is being revived this year, winds through Mansfield streets.

The celebration, which includes a parade and three Halloween dances, is being sponsored by the Gasoline Retailers of Richland county. It will follow closely the Halloween celebartions that were sponsored for many years by the late Fred Hunt, when hundreds in costumes and masks held a Mardi Gras on the downtown streets.

'Motorized' Parade.

The parade forms on Park avenue west between Mulberry and Bowman at 7 p. m. and starts at 7:30. It moves north to Fourth, east to Main, south to Central park, and around the park on the Future War Certain--Hitler Probable Winner, Knickerbocker Says

(EDITOR'S NOTE—In New York on a furlough, H. R. Knickerbocker, roving foreign correspondent of International News Service, has written a series of six articles in which he has summed up his opinion of what lies ahead in Europe and outlines the reaction that has set in following the Munich settlement.)

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—War yesterday was a probabilty, and the defeat of Hitler Germany a certainty.

War tomorrow is a certainty and the victory of Hitler Germany a strong possibility. The 'peace of Munich" made Hitler the master of Europe, and will cost tomorrow the lives of many million more men than were risked yesterday.

That is the net result of the crisis which blinded the world with terror, then left it limp with relief, and now compels the half-cleared minds of its victims to perceive that worse is to come.

For the Munich settlement so altered the balance of power that the aggressor nations have for the first time become possessed of the means to win, and now as never before time works in their favor. They were willing to risk war with the odds against them. Can there be any doubt that now with the odds in their favor, they will risk it again and again until they reach the inevitable breaking point?

Yesterday's position was: Hitler had arrayed against him certainly England, France, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia; probably against him was Poland, while Italy would have been at best neutral, despite the axis. In the background was the United States, strongly sympathetic to the democracies, and world opinion was unanimously against the German aggression. The lineup was much more unfavorable to Germany than in 1914.

Fundamental basis for this lineup was the calculation "who is going to win?" The answer was yesterday without a dissenting voice: England and France. All thought England and France still great powers, strong and full of fortitude. And all remembered that Germany lost the last war essentially because the blockade slowly strangled her to death.

The basis of calculation remains the same today, but the answer since Munich is different.

Today the lineup against Germany is France, cowed, shamed and defeatist. England, shamed, frightened, but defiantly proclaiming she has saved "peace with honor." Their own alliance, despite the brave words uttered publicly now, has suffered a blow which could in the next crisis prove mortal. Publicly each declares the other a fine partner and a good fellow, but privately in England they blame France, and in France they blame England, and neither now regards the other as reliable.

The disaster is that all Europe now regards England and France as treaty breakers, and not less immoral and selfish, but less brave than the notorious treaty-breaker, their arch-enemy, Hitler. Against this disastrous opinion, however, even candid Englishmen strive with desperate sophistry.

Winston Churchill, who feels the blow to Britain more than most, yet argues that neither France nor Britain really defaulted on their obligations, because if Benes had refused to bow to the "unbearable pressure" brought by France and England, and had refused the terms thrust upon him, and had then been attacked by Germany, "it would have been imperative upon

Thinking Mate Has Snap Causes Trouble

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not so very long ago people were laughing at that old stage wisecrack: "There's no place like home, and thank God for it."

When home can be made a heaven so easily, it's a pity it is so often the opposite. Most of us are revolted at the thought of cruelty to animals but we do not hesitate to wound, in the most expert fashion, our nearest and dearest.

Men who have the urbanity of dancing masters abroad, leave their politeness on the doorstep when they insert their latchkeys. If anything has gone wrong in the office, shop or factory, they feel at liberty to pass it on to their wives. And the wife, poor creature, who has probably been cooking her lord's favorite dish, is hurt beyond words by her husband's greeting. She, in turn, becomes irritable with the children or some other member of the household.

From the hundreds of letters that have come to this column since I inaugurated it many years ago, much of the unhappiness in the home seems to come from the entirely wrong belief of some husbands that wives, because they do not go out to work, lead lives of gilded ease. To cook, clean and attend to children—often to wash and iron—seems, to some husbands, the equivalent of leisure.

They see themselves toiling, early and late, to keep some woman in comfort, even luxury, forgetting that the work she does would command a fair price in the open market.

On the other hand, stay-at-home wives endow their husbands' jobs with a non-existent glamour. To be relieved of the clutter and mess of straightening out a house, after getting breakfast, washing the dishes, sending the children off to school, almost any alternative looks glittering to the little woman. The noon-day meal which the husband enjoys with other employes, sometimes the gentler sex—there's the rub—seems so much better than it is through the reverse end of the opera glass.

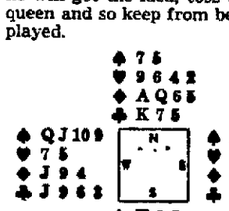
ASK FOR HIS HELP

IF YOU WANT to win the third round of a suit with the jack, so you can lead through a tenace in dummy, give a high-low signal on the ace and king. Unless your partner is not especially keen or is unobservant—which is worse—he will get the idea, toss away his queen and so keep from being endplayed.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable).

South opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart. North responded with 2-Hearts, which South raised to 3-Hearts, and North took the contract to 4-Hearts.

The spade Q was West's opening lead. East overtook the trick with the A and returned a spade to South's K. Declarer ruffed his third spade and led a heart, which East won with the A and returned the heart 8 to South's 10.

Declarer then decided to lead his two high clubs and lead a third with the hope that East would be the winner of the trick and so force a lead up to his diamond tenace.

When South played the club A, West played the 9 and on the lead to the club K he threw the 3. East wondered what possible reason his partner could have for giving him a high-low signal. The only honor West could hold was the J. It then dawned on him that West was imploring him to unblock, so that West could get in to lead a diamond. He did and the diamond lead killed game for declarer, who thought his end play might produce game.

Housewife Should Watch Health

By MME. QUI VIVE

Suggest to the dutiful housewife that she needs exercise and she's likely to hit you over the head with a skillet, or anything else that happens to be handy. If she does her work unaided, has several small children, her idea of a nerve restoring heaven is a quiet cellar or attic away from the sound of human voices, far from the daily treadmill. She's all for a flop and a good long sleep, poor dear.

She has a duty to herself as well as the family and the home, and that is to keep in fine physical form, to enjoy mental and spiritual health not to permit emotional weariness to get her down.

We agree with her that exercise is not what she needs. She can get the right kind if she regiments her work, has her mind on body posture, fights off what might be called the housewife's slouch.

* * *

First, the sink must be the right height for dishwashing. If it is too low she must place a support under the dishpan to lift it. Bending over a sink brings chest sag, softens the fibers of the breasts, brings on rounded shoulders. At all times she must keep her backbone on the job, extended full length. That pose tightens the musculature of the torso, so that the protruding tummy will not develop, the back will remain straight, graceful, youthful.

She must keep perfect balance of the body, wear shoes that are low-heeled, wide, with support for the instep. Certain kinds of sports shoes are best for traveling through the days job. Somebody has discovered that the average housewife walks seven miles a day. Let her be properly shod for her pilgrimages.

* * *

When picking up articles from the floor, bend at the hips, not at the waist. Hips are good hinges. Or, squat down when you pick up the children's toys and, when you rise, come up on your toes. Fine for keeping legs and ankles slender.

When using vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper, see how gracefully you can do it. Don't bend far over with the chest contracted. Make it an exercise. When polishing the silver or preparing vegetables sit up straight.

Make a real endeavor to catch a thirty-minute rest after luncheon. Or when the children have their naps. A wonderful pick-up that is. Keeps the old eyes bright and the disposition sweet.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"The Lansfield is owned by Philip Veritzen, as I have told you," I said at last, "and, naturally, his employes would 'stretch several points' to keep their jobs. But, being high class people, I am as sure they wouldn't do anything criminal as I am positive that Philip Veritzen wouldn't ask them for such services.

"The great Mr. Veritzen," I went on, and I could not help a certain irony in my voice, "thinks too much of his reputation to risk putting it at the mercy of any employe. You may be sure that if he has planned espionage upon Mary, he has made it appear to the hotel manager as a necessary safeguarding of his daughter-in-law, with no possible hint of his real reason."

"But," reasoned Miss Whitlock, "wouldn't he be putting his reputation in Avis Arlen's hands?"

"Which, palpably, are extremely untrustworthy," I answered. "Yes, he would, but Avis Arlen is the daughter of a dead business associate—her mother hopes to marry him some time, although I think her chances of realizing that hope are worse than negligible, and Avis is in his employ at a good salary, a job she would find hard to duplicate. Above everything else, I have reason to think that, in the vernacular, he has 'something on her.' No Avis is the one person whose knowledge of his activities he would not fear."

Some Things Certain.

"Then, when you come down to cases," Miss Whitlock said, "we are comparatively sure of these things."

She ticked them off on her fingers as she went on.

"There is an attempt to 'get something' on Mary, something which will discredit her.

"The hotel people are aiding in the espionage, but believing that it is simply protection for Mary.

"Either Philip Vertizen is employing Avis Arlen for the job, or he is innocent of it, and the girl has made the hotel authorities believe that she is directly representing him, and that they are to take orders from her."

She stopped with a speculative look in her eyes.

"Would the hotel manager take orders from a girl unless he had written authority from Philip Veritzen, or had checked up with him over the telephone?"

Received Authority.

"I am sure he would not," I returned promptly. "But you may be sure that, in either case, the hotel manager received elaborate and plausible written authority, genuine if Philip Veritzen is at the bottom of this, or most cleverly forged if Avis Arlen is 'on her own' in this thing."

"To look at her you wouldn't guess she was so clever," she said.

"No, she is very clever to conceal the fact," I answered. "But I have found her to be shrewd, cunning and thoroughly unscrupulous."

"That combination is dangerous," Miss Whitlock commented.

"She's dynamite," I assented. "and I wish I were sure that we had seen the last of her."

"Surely, after her experience tonight, she won't dare to come back here." The nurse's voice was incredulous.

Make Her Continue.

"Not if she's on her own, as she confessed she was," I answered slowly. "But, if that confession were false and she is really being employed by Philip Veritzen to spy upon Mary, then he never will allow her to give up so easily."

"But," Miss Whitlock, protested, "if she reports to Philip Veritzen what you did to her and that you know she was spying—"

"It will only make him more determined," I said with a reminiscent shiver at the well-known Veritzen persistence. "Remember, if my conjecture is correct, and he is the power behind Avis, he will think that she has convinced me she was on her own, and that I believe I have effectually banished her. Reasoning that my suspicions are lulled, he will try something else—just what, I do not know, but we must be prepared for anything. However, one thing is certain: We have done everything possible in the way of precaution, and I am sure we shall not be troubled again for a day or two, at least. I propose that we get what sleep we can until I have to rise in order to get the boys off."

Notes From a Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Madame asked me today about the opening, and I told her that Consuelo had arranged for me to have dinner with her first and then go on to the theater with Bill. She was so nice about it and told me to take the day off. That is a great help, for now I'll be able to do some shopping in leisure, have my hair done, get home and have a nice beauty nap before dressing for dinner.

Of course, I'll wear a negligee while Consuelo and I dine, but I want to be ready before dinner, so that all I have to do is to put on the finishing touches and slip into my dress. Bill is coming for me after dinner.

From what I gather the show is grand and looks as though it is going to be a hit. The scene is laid in Hungary and so I suppose that there'll be more than a dash of Hungarian paprika in the late winter clothes. Color and color contrasts abound in the clothes that we did for the show, and I'd like to bet a tidy sum that before the month is out, we'll be making replicas of some of the clothes.

But, of course, not many gals will look like Consuelo. She is so dark, has such a beautiful, lissome figure, that she is just the type to carry off exotic clothes. Madame did a grand job and for once is pleased with her efforts.

Different This Time.

Usually she starts designing a new dress or something almost on the day of the opening. But this time she hasn't made a single suggestion or improvement, although the clothes had their final fitting last week. A big theatrical house did a fine job on the costumes for the show girls and the ballet. There are several sets, and the scenery is very lavish, so it is going to be a very big production. This time I managed to avoid going to the theater during rehearsals, for I wanted to see the show for the first time when it opens.

I bought this beautiful nightie for a friend of mine. It is of double white chiffon, with lace dyed a few shades lighter than navy blue. The lace is used at the neck and sleeves and for the encrusted motifs at the hem. Navy satin ribbon pulls through the neck and waist. The bodice part is fully gathered. The dropped shoulder line is adjustable.

While chiffon nightie.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 1.

A day of remarkable and surprising opportunities and adventures is presaged by the major planetary influences. There may suddenly be presented some grand opening which may have a paramount influence on the entire future fortunes and destiny. This is likely to demand a drastic re-orientation of the personal life, with new objectives, surroundings and associates. But whatever the situation, the mind will be able to cope with difficulties. Discretion is enjoined.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of important events, bringing unlooked-for opportunities for high achievements, expanded fortunes and possibly spectacular adventures. An entire about-face in the life seems imminent, leading on to fortune and to fame, but also provoking jealousy, enmity and treachery. The mental faculties and emotional forces will be found keyed to success and gratification, if activities are guided with circumspection.

A child born on this day may have original talents, much initiative and high ambitions which may lead it to a conspicuous place in the public esteem. It should be charming, gracious and of great humanitarian aspirations.

Today's Fashion

Flattering dinner dress.

* * *

By VERA WINSTON

THE DINNER gown, once a rarity in the average wardrobe, grows in importance and in beauty each season. It is refreshing, when dining out, to get home and fare forth wearing a svelte, flattering dinner dress. Here is a splendid choice, one that will not outwear its welcome through the winter season. It is of black velvet bands with rows of net between. The bands are used horizontally with a vertical section above the waist. The wide black velvet belt has a self buckle. A bunch of jewelled grapes at the neck provides the needed glitter. The skirt flares at the bottom, hugging the figure to below the knee.

Apples, Bananas Today's Topic

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

JUST NOW, when apples are ripened to a mellow perfection, is the time to get busy and bake an apple pie. We know there are scores of recipes for this most popular of pies, but just the same, here we come with still another formula.

Here it is. Three-quarters of a cup of shredded pineapple, two cups apple sauce, one-eighth teaspoon salt, and one and one-half tablespoons gelatine, softened in one-quarter cup water or pineapple juice, make the filling for a 10-inch pie that is decidedly different in flavor from the usual. Drain the pineapple and combine with apple sauce. Add the salt. Dissolve the gelatine over hot water and add to fruit mixture. Pour into baked pie shell of graham cracker crust and chill thoroughly before serving.

For an excellent graham cracker crust for a 10-inch pie, take two cups of finely-rolled graham cracker crumbs, one-half cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon and one-half cup butter (melted). Blend the ingredients together lightly with a fork. Press firmly into pie pan to make a crust one-eighth of an inch thick. Bake in hot oven (400 F.) for about 12 minutes. When cool, pour in filling.

Banana Cake Recipe.

While we are dealing with such sweet subjects, here is a grand recipe when a party cake is in order. Banana cake with mile-high frosting is what we are talking about.

The recipe calls for one and one-half cups sugar, three-quarters cup butter, two eggs, two and one-half cups cake flour (sifted before measuring), one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon vanilla, one and one-half cups ripe bananas (forced through potato ricer, then measured), one-quarter cup sour milk or buttermilk, and one-half teaspoon baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar; cream together until light and fluffy. Add whole eggs, one at a time, beating well after the addition of each. Sift together flour, soda and baking powder. Add sour milk and vanilla to bananas. Add alternately the banana and flour mixtures to the first mixture. Beat until smooth and well mixed. Divide evenly into pans. Place in preheated oven and bake at 375 F. temperature for 25 to 35 minutes.

To make the frosting there must be two egg whites, one cup white corn syrup, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one-quarter teaspoon almond extract. Combine egg whites and corn syrup in large bowl. Beat with rotary egg beater until mixture stands up in peaks.

Spanish Flavor Given Roast

By RUTH CHAMBERS

The reason why dwellers in hot countries like their foods "hot," that is, highly spiced, is something of a puzzle, though various explanations have been advanced. One plausible theory is that it is because spices and highly flavored vegetables could be more easily obtained in these countries. Therefore the taste for highly spiced foods was very naturally acquired.

Whatever the reason, the desire for spices to flavor foods was one of the factors which led to the discovery of America, for you remember that a shorter route to India and its spices was being sought.

The Spanish influence still persists, to bring variety and an exotic touch to American cookery. It comes to us chiefly through our Southwest, and it might be called Spanish cookery with a Mexican accent. From Porto Rico and Cuba also come New World variations of Old World dishes.

One may become quite a connoisseur of flavors by experimenting with these spicy, colorful dishes. You'll find that they tempt appetites which have grown tired of ordinary fare. And you'll discover, too, that familiar foods, such as a pot-roast of beef, can take on new interest when served in Porto Rican style.

Porto Rican Pot-Roast.

3 or 4 pounds beef rump or chuck
1 small bottle stuffed olives
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
2 cups hot water
1 cup catsup
1 onion
Salt and pepper

Have the bone removed and the meat rolled. Cut small slits in the meat and stuff with olives. Brown in hot fat. Add water, catsup and sliced onion and season to taste. Cover tightly and simmer gently, allowing 45 minutes per pound.

Serve with green beans, slices of tomato and green peppers.

Spanish Baked Ham.

1 slice ham, ¾ in thick
6 potatoes, sliced
Chopped green pepper and onion
1 can tomato soup
Milk

Place ham in bottom of baking dish. Cover with sliced potatoes. Add seasoning and a sprinkling of chopped onion and green pepper. Over this pour one can of tomato soup mixed with an equal amount of milk. Bake at 325 degrees Fahrenheit until the potatoes are tender, about 1½ hours. During the last half hour, remove the cover to brown on top.

Chili Con Carne.

1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon lard
1 medium onion, chopped
1½ cups hot water
1 No. 2 can kidney beans
1 No. 1 can strained tomatoes (one cup)
Salt
1 clove garlic, if desired
2 teaspoons chili powder

Melt lard in deep pan and add onion and meat. Cook quickly until meat is a grayish color and separated in small particles. Allow it to simmer for a few minutes. When it starts to fry, add other ingredients with salt to taste. Stir well and simmer until meat is tender. Serve in the center of a ring of boiled rice.

Flank Steak, Spanish Style.

1½ to 2 pounds flank steak
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 onion, chopped
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced celery leaves
1 small green pepper, chopped
2 cups tomato soup or tomato sauce

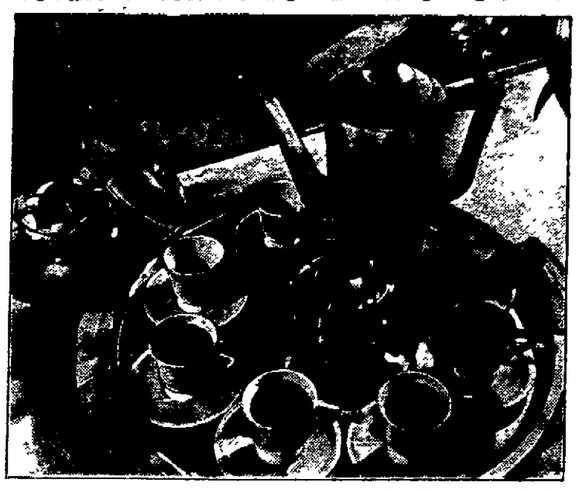
Score steak on both sides. Cover with a marinade of the oil, vinegar, onion and other seasonings and let stand for an hour or longer. Then brown the meat, using extra meat drippings or bacon fat if needed. Place in a shallow baking dish or casserole. Add the remainder of the marinade dressing the tomato soup or tomato sauce and cook in a moderate oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) for one hour or until the meat is tender.

Spanish Lamb Slices.

6 neck slices of lamb
6 slices onion
6 slices tomato
6 rings green pepper
¼ cup rice

Season the neck slices and brown in a little lard. Place in a baking dish and on each slice arrange a slice of onion, one of tomato and the pepper ring filled with rice which has been partially cooked. Pour ½ cup water around the meat. Cover and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) for one hour. Serve, garnished with parsley or watercress.

Relax With After Dinner Coffee



It's moving day for after-dinner coffee! Right out of the dining room into the living room! Leave the table feeling as though you could eat a little more—but relax with after-dinner coffee in more comfortable surroundings and become accustomed to a pleasant custom. The elegant service pictured in the illustration, accompanied by nuts and candied strawberries, is smart—but not a necessity. Use your usual coffee cups and make your coffee double-strength (two heaping tablespoons to each cup). Have coffee with your meal—and have it after dinner in the living room—and relax.

Follow Rules Closely to Make Variety of Creamy, Light Foods

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

You no longer have to envy the cook who can make a foamy souffle. The secret for concocting this fluffy perfection is out of the bag. You just have to be meticulous in following the rules for mixing and cooking.

A souffle is a light, porous, creamy dish, lightened by egg yolks and whites, and held together with a cream sauce or tapioca. But it's temperamental. It has to be cooked in a pan of hot water in a slow oven, the way you would bake custard.

All Sorts of Styles.

Souffle is another of the dishes that are capable of infinate variety. You can make it from vegetables, fish, meat, fowl, cheese, eggs. You can expand the possibilities by your choice of sauces.

A souffle is substantial enough to be the main course at any meal. Or, sweetened with chocolate, cocoanut, jam, fruit, dates or nuts it develops into a thrilling dessert for luncheon or dinner. As a dessert, too, there are many changes you can ring with other sauces.

Here's a cheese souffle recipe that calls for tapioca. You can serve it with cream, mushroom or tomato sauce for luncheon, supper or dinner. Cook one-fourth of a cup of granulated tapioca in a cup of milk for 15 minutes in a double boiler. Add two-thirds of a cup of grated cheese, one-fourth of a teaspoon each of salt, paprika, minced parsley and chopped onions. Cook until the cheese melts and then cool. Add three egg yolks and beat two minutes. Fold in beaten whites. Fill a buttered mold two-thirds of the way and bake 50 minutes in a pan of hot water in a slow even—325 degrees. Let it stand five minutes when it's done before removing it from the mold.

Can Use Substitutes.

You can substitute mushrooms, cooked peas, corn, beans or chopped cooked meat or fish for the cheese in this recipe.

For a flavorful meat or fish souffle, try this. Melt four tablespoons of butter, add four tablespoons of flour, one and one-third cups of milk, one-half teaspoon each of paprika, celery salt, chopped pimentos and minced onions. Cook until very thick and creamy. Stir constantly. Fold in one and one-half cups of cooked meat or fish and four beaten egg whites. Bake 60 minutes in buttered molds as directed.

Some Baking Tips.

Here are some baking tips that will come in handy. It takes about 30 minutes to bake souffles in individual dishes; 45 minutes in a ring mold, and from 50 to 60 minutes in a large mold.

A souffle is done when it springs back into place after you press the surface lightly with your fingers and is slightly loose around the edges.

For a delicious luncheon or dinner finale serve this date lemon souffle: Melt four tablespoons of butter, add six tablespoons of flour; one-eighth of a teaspoon of salt and one and one-half cups of milk. Cook until very thick. Add a third of a cup of sugar, one cup of chopped dates and four egg yolks. Cook one minute and beat three minutes. Add two tablespoons of lemon juice, one-half a teaspoon of grated lemon rind, one-half a cup of nuts and four egg whites. Bake in the usual way. Serve warm or cold, topped with whipped cream, and you have enough for six or seven.

Shiny Silver

Silverware will stay shiny and untarnished if it is used daily, washed thoroughly and stored carefully. Use hot soapy water for washing, hot clear water for rinsing. Wipe the silver carefully with a lintless soft cloth. Don't pile silverware; that is likely to scratch it. To remove tarnish from silver, use a polish that is very soft and is free from grit.

Dressing For Endive

Here is a dressing to serve with endive. Mix two tablespoons of currant jelly with one-third of a cup of salad dressing or mayonnaise and add two tablespoons of heavy cream, whipped. Arrange the endive on sliced oranges and pass the dressing.

A new fruit blend delightful in flavor, color and texture is made of sliced bananas, diced, canned pineapple and cranberry sauce. Serve as a fruit cup or as a covering for biscuit or cake slices.

Kitchen Hints

To clean washable gloves, put them on your hands and wash them in warm water and mild soap suds. Rub the soiled spots gently with a complexion brush. This wil loosen the dirt but not injure the fabric. Remove gloves and rinse well in quantities of clear water the same temperature as that used for the washing. Hank up dripping to dry. When partially dry blow in them to prevent the fingers from sticking together.

To give a spicy sugar coating to freshly fried doughnuts, mix half a cup of granulated sugar, one teaspoon of cinnamon, half a teaspoon of cloves and a fourth of a cup of chopped nut meats. Place in a paper sack and add six doughnuts at a time. Shake the bag until doughnuts are coated. These are delicious served with hot or cold cider.

To clean the painted wall behind the refrigerator or stove tightly attach a soft cloth to a yardstick, broom handle or fishing pole, dip it in warm water and soap suds and poke about at will. To clean linoleum under refrigerators or stoves, dip the cloth in floor wax. This polishes as it cleans.

A crispy coat of canned fruit is made by dipping the fruit into cream, then into a favorite crunchy ready-cooked cereal and heating five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve this tid-bit warm, plain or with fruit or whipped cream sauce. As is, it makes a tempting dessert for the youngsters.

It's time to clean the fur collar on your coat. Heat cornmeal in a shallow pan and, with the fingers, rub the meal well into the fur. After two days, shake out or brush lightly with a soft brush. If the fur is very soiled, repeat. This is very effective on the white fur so often used on evening wraps.

Calls French Cabinet on Drastic Economic Degrees

DALADIER ACTS TO END GRAVE MONEY CRISIS

Seeks Approval of Degrees to Increase Income, Speed Up Industries.

(By International News Service)

PARIS—Armored with the full support of his powerful radical Socialist party, and rid of the shackling influence of Communist participation in the government majority, Premier Edouard Daladier today called together the cabinet to approve a series of iron-fisted decrees.

Aimed to speed up production, increase the national income, and pull France out of her present grave financial and economic plight, the decrees are being kept secret, but their general nature is fairly well known.

Returning from the radical socialist congress at Marseilles, and going direct to work on his own huge task, Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau informed the press:

"Most of the financial and economic decree laws have been prepared for days. They have been carefully studied."

Change Work Week.

A modified form of what Minister of Commerce Fernand Gentin called "steered economy" will be announced to the cabinet, according to reliable predictions.

Changes in the 40-hour work week law, especially in the defense industries, with less pay for overtime, and alteration of the five-day week are planned, for Daladier is determined to make the wheels of industry, now far too idle, turn faster.

Since, Daladier argues, there can be no cut in the record peacetime budget of 102,000,000,000 francs which he projects for next year, the only way to ease the taxpayers' burden will be to raise the national income.

The country's annual income now is down to 220,000,000,000 francs, or not a great deal more than twice the budget.

A recent favorable factor, however, is the fact that the treasury has been able to meet all demands without any trouble. Purchase of national bonds is on the increase and the franc is holding up in international value.

Daladier's powers to rule by decree, granted to him by parliament, expire Nov. 15. But in the next fortnight the premier expects to have his emergency plans running smoothly.

Concerned with him in this strong attempt for recovery are Paul Marchandeau, minister of finance; Raymond Patenotre, minister of national economy; Paul Reynaud, minister of justice; and Georges Bonnet, foreign minister. Reynard and Bonnet are also financial experts.

Doomed Man Shot As Device Records Heart's Last Beat

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—A firing squad executed John W. Deering at dawn today in state prison while an electro-cardiograph recorded probably for the first time the action of the human heart pierced by bullets.

Deering, who had sought in every way to speed his death and who participated willingly in the scientific experiment to determine how long his heart would beat after being struck, was calm to the end.

The five-men firing squad was given the order to fire at 6:46 a. m., M. S. T., and at 6:48½ a. m. Deering was pronuonced dead in expiation for the May 9 holdup murder of Oliver R. Meredith, Sait Lake City businessman.

Electric wires were attached to his wrists and carried to a delicate machine his last heart beats. Scientists began an immediate study of the record but said it would be a number of hours before they could announce any findings.

BOY, 14, STRICKEN

Son of Knox Count; Couple Dies In Mt. Vernon Hospital.

FREDERICKTOWN — Harold Little, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Little, who live four miles south of Fredericktown, died in Mercy hospital at Mt. Vernon Sunday after a short illness.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Ruth and Helen, at home, and a grandmother, Mrs. Anna B. Little.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Meredith funeral home with Rev. Walter Hoffman of Waterford officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

DIES AT COUNTY INFIRMARY

Funeral services for Emery Anderson, 83, who died at the Richland county infirmary Saturday after a lingering illness, were to be held at the Jones funeral home at 4 p. m. today with Rev. J. G. Ellington, chaplain at the home, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Dies Hurls New Charges Against Roosevelt

Up and Down THE STREET

Sheriff E. P. Long and Probate Judge C. J. Anderson are chuckling over letters they received today, which they suspect Halloween pranksters of sending. Purporting to come from a Mansfield "temperance worker," the letters ask that Long and Anderson accompany him on a tour of the county. The "temperance worker" explains he plans to point to them—both sturdy men, in the best of health—as "examples of the ravages of strong drink." The letters were mimeographed, so maybe more persons than Long and Anderson got them, too. Sheriff Long said he planned to do a little "personal investigating" into the situation.

* * *

Virtually everything went wrong out at Stadium field Saturday as the Tygers bowed to Akron Kenmore, 33 to 6, and so Mansfield fans were not surprised when one of the bandsmen got mixed up in his maneuvers. Making their first appearance at Stadium field, Simpson Junior high musicians spelled out a big "S" for their part of the intermission program, but one of the tooters, apparently too interested in his music, marched one way all by himself as the band went in another direction to break out of its maneuver. He was immediately dubbed "Wrong Way" Corrigan by the crowd.

* * *

That Germany's dictator and the Japanese "menace" are real bogey men to some people was evidenced last evening when the "end of the world" scare swept over the country as the result of a radio dramitization. A Mansfield woman who had been listening to the radio—but not to the station announcements—rushed into a neighbor's home and said: "The radio says the invasion is from Mars, but I'll bet a nickel Hitler and the Japs are back of it."

* * *

A most unusual "silver anniversary" was celebrated last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Painter, South Main street. Twenty-five years ago the Painters and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver F. Shively, 733 West Fourth street, gave a birthday party for Mrs. Shively, whose birthday is Oct. 31, and for Mr. Painter whose birthday is Nov. 1. That was in 1914. They agreed then to have a joint birthday party every year, and they have never missed a year since. Last night was the 25th party and it was celebrated as a "silver anniversary." Each year children of the families have attended, and last night, Mrs. Shively's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Leppo, Mansfield, also was a guest.

DIES AT AGE 74

William J. Stelzer Taken by Death at Son's Home.

NEW LONDON — William J. Stelzer, 74, died Sunday noon at the home of a son, Clarence Stelzer in Ruggles township, near here.

TOWNSENDITES RALLY TONIGHT

teewoman, and Republican candidates for county offices will speak.

Party leaders and candidates will open a series of township rallies in the southern part of the county Wednesday night. The first meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Butler high school. Others will be conducted later at Lucas and Lexington.

Atty. Raymond J. Brown, Mansfield, and the county candidates will speak at the Butler meeting.

The Townsend rally tonight will be in charge of Archie May, Mansfield, campaign manager for Woodward.

Townsend leaders said the national organization is throwing all of its strength behind Woodward, an avowed Townsend advocate, in an attempt to elect him to congress from the 17th district which includes Richland county.

Robert Townsend, son of the founder of the movement, spoke at Mt. Vernon recently in behalf of Woodward's candidacy.

Beecher Hess, speaker at a rally here, said the national Townsend headquarters at Chicago was more interested in the 17th district than any other in Ohio, "because Woodward was nominated solely on his Townsend platform."

ILL 4 WEEKS, DIES AT AGE 87

Services For Mrs. Anna Schmunk To Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna M. Schmunk, 87, widow of Henry Schmunk, who died Saturday at her home, 250 Park avenue east, after an illness of four weeks, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. G. E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will remain at the home until Tuesday morning

A member of the First Lutheran church 46 years, Mrs. Schmunk was born in Neider Nudau, Germany, April 19, 1851, and came to Mansfield with her parents in 1865.

Surviving are two sons, Charles H. and John G.; a daughter, Bertha, and a brother, Henry J. Ackerman, all of Mansfield.

U. S. EVICTS WIDOW OF WEALTHY INDIAN, MANSION GIVEN TRIBE

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—The government today gave back to the Indians the mansion of Jackson Barnett, the late Creek millionaire, after having finally evicted his belligerent widow in a surprise raid.

Sullenly seated in a jail cell, Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett, the widow, ignored offers of aid from the thousands of Californians who appealed even to the president not to dispossess her. She, and Mrs. Maxine Sturgis, her daughter, were detained on a charge of suspicion of resisting federal officers.

The charge was filed after U. S. Marshal Bob Clark said, Mrs. Barnett tried to scalp a raiding deputy with a hand-axe in the eviction.

The officers, unsuccesful in recent attempts to carry out the eviction order, succeeded yesterday in a surprise raid at the mansion by using tear gas to subdue the widow.

The order grew out of a supreme court ruling that Mrs. Barnett had "kidnaped" and illegally married the incompetent old Indian for his money.

Federal officials said they were helpless to evade the court order which followed Judge William P. James' ruling in 1934 that invalidated her marriage. They recalled that she had received more than $500,000 from Barnett during the 12 years she lived with him. She was allowed $2500 a month for living expenses and received numerous gifts from the aged Indian who bought expensive motor cars as they ran out of gasoline.

ELECT TODAY

Directors to Name Officers of Park Association.

New officers of the South Park-Maple Lake association will be elected tonight when the board of directors meet at the Lincoln Mutual Insurance building and will be introduced to the membership of the organization at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Brinkerhoff school.

All old and new members of the association are being invited to attend the meeting. Plans to beautify the parks will be discussed tomorrow night, as both South park and Maple lake will receive a portion of the $35,000 federal funds recently granted the Mansfield parks.

EX-MANSFIELDER DIES

Gailen George Strouse, 40, of Orrville, formerly of Mansfield, died in Hines' veterans hospital in Chicago Saturday after a lingering illness. A former employe of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, Mr. Strouse left Mansfield five years ago. He was a world's war veteran. Surviving are his wife and three children, Betty Lou, Ruth and Carroll. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

TAKES TO RADIO TO DEFEND ACTS OF COMMITTEE

Un-American Inquiry Chairman Says New Deal Intimidates Broadcasting System.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The controversy between President Roosevelt and Rep. Martin Dies, D., Tex., increased in scope today with new charges by Dies that the administration was attempting to sabotage his committee's investigation to subversive activities.

A few hours before he was scheduled to give "definite proof" that high ranking New Dealers, including cabinet members, sought to obstruct the work of the house committee investigating un-American activities, Dies charged that administration officials had "intimidated" a radio broadcasting system.

Dies will speak from 11:15 to 11:30 p. m., tonight from Station WOL, the Washington station of the Mutual Broadcasting company, in defense of his committee's investigation which drew a sharp rebuke from Mr. Roosevelt.

Correspondent To Speak.

Last night, WOL announced that Dies would be followed, from 11:30 to 11:45 p. m., by Paul Y. Anderson, Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Star-Times, who also would discuss the Dies committee hearings.

Dies immediately said that he had received authentic information that William D. Dolph, manager of WOL, had been "forced" to give radio time to Anderson. He charged that Charles Michelson, publicity director of the Democratic national committee, had approached Dolph with the suggestion that Anderson be permitted to speak and that no mention of the White House's interest in the matter be made.

Anderson, who has been reporting the committee's hearings for his paper, said that he had been asked to speak by only WOL officials.

Dolph, when first questioned, said that the station had invited Anderson to speak as a result of Mr. Roosevelt's press conference suggestion last week—that correspondents interview reporters covering the Dies committee hearings for an opinion on the inquiry.

Meanwhile, the committee will continue its hearings today. Additional testimony, Dies said, will be on the recruiting of Americans for the Spanish civil war, further information of Nazism and Fascism activities in this country, and the 1937 sit down strikes in Ohio.

BANK HEAD DIES

C. G. Wolfersberger Succumbs at Shiloh Home at Age 84.

SHILOH—Charles G. Wolfersberger, 84, for the past 22 years president of the Shiloh Savings bank, died early this morning at his home after a short illness. He had been associated with the bank for the past 37 years, serving more than two decades as its president.

Mr. Wolfersberger was born in Plymouth, the son of the late Frederick and Anna Wolfersberger. He was a member of Mt. Hope Lutheran church and the men's class of the Sunday school.

Surviving are two sons, Frederick of Pittsburgh and Leland of Shiloh, one daughter, Mrs. M. L. Williams of Ripley, five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Mt. Hope church, with Rev. F. W. Shirey officiating, and burial in Mt. Hope cemetery.

SALEM MOURNS THOMAS BRUSH

Son of Newspaper Chain's Head Dies In West.

SALEM — (AP) — The body of Thomas Brush, 42, circulation director of the Brush-Moore newspapers, who died last night at Tucson, Ariz., will be brought here for burial, his father, Lewis H. Brush, president of the newspaper chain, announced today.

Brush was born in Salem and was educated at the University of Michigan which he left in 1917 for service in the United States navy during the World war.

He had been associated with his father in the management of the East Liverpool Review and had been employed in the circulation department of the New York Herald Tribune before becoming Brush-Moore circulation director in 1928 with headquarters in Canton.

FAIR ENOUGH!

More Comment on Those New Yorkers who Refuse to Become Assimilated

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Yes, and another thing about them is that you never see them doing any of the really heavy work of building up the place.

You don't see them digging tunnels and subways or anything like that, or bringing up their children to perform such toil. They come here as green as grass, most of them without visible means of support and claiming to want work, but they are too good to soil their hands with the rough jobs.

That kind of work is out of their line. They want to be lawyers or work in offices or stores or write for the magazines or do plays or go on the stage. Something soft is what they want, out of the weather, and as soon as they begin to do all right they start pushing their way into the clubs and the better neighborhoods. And not all but most of them want to be known as night-club celebrities and bon vivants and see their picture in the society sections or in the rotogravures showing them at the Stork or "21" with a champagne cooler by the table.

* * *

They consume plenty, but if you ever suggest to one of them that he ought to go out and be a farmer and produce something he will laugh at you as though you were crazy.

Or if you crack that they ought to teach their kids to be farmers or laborers, instead of white collar people, it is the same. It is true that they sometimes send their kids back to the homeland to college, but that is just for clannishness again—the old fear of being assimilated to New York, the fear of becoming too eastern, although the kids have been born and brought up in New York and enjoyed its advantages and superior ease of living.

But, whether they go back to school, back to the scenes, customs, inconveniences and all that the parents were so glad to escape from when they were young, or go to eastern schools, they aren't fixing to go in for heavy toil when they get through. God forbid that they should ever have to do any of the rough jobs!

* * *

Yet the parents will sit around and knock other people for avoiding manual labor and say. "How many farmers do you see among them?" and complain because these others, too, keep alive their old traditions and folkways and try to give their children the kind of education and enough stake in life to make it unnecessary for them to be laborers.

But when they go home to refresh themselves on the old traditions and all they like to read notices in the papers describing them as New Yorkers—and their attitude toward those who did stay back amid the old scenes and customs to work as mechanics, farmers, ditch-diggers and what-all is one of hearty condescension. They regard them as quaint, back-country people, and when they return to New York with their old traditions refreshed they get together with other emigres in their little unassimilated colonies of Buckeyes, Badgers, Sooners, Suckers and all, to laugh as they describe the quaint dialect and quaint little interests of the simple yokels at home.

* * *

You ought to hear an unassimilated Nebraskan describe the conversation he had with Zeke, the taxis driver, in his old home town the time he went back to bury his uncle. Zeke wasn't much account, ever. He and the unassimilated Nebraskan went to high school together. But Zeke was a common toil type who stuck around home, building corncribs, working on the paving gang, sometimes tending gas stations and one thing or another until, finally, he got his hack. Good old Zeke is a riot in his quaintly boresome, historical accounts of the little changes in the old home town.

They sometimes seem just like regular New Yorkers, but every now and again some little thing occurs in conversation to betray the fact that they are still Iowans, Texans and so forth in their hearts, who never will take full citizenship in the community which has treated them so well, who will always give first loyalty to some other state and claim a right to condemn others for similar sentiments, for an aversion like their own to back-breaking toil, for social ambitions and vanities exactly like their own, and for preparing a gentle future for their children, even as they aspire to do.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I think this is where we came in.

Yes, it is. There go those cowboys chasing each other over the hill. And that's the same Redskin that bit the dust a short two hours—I mean 25 years ago.

Yes, and if we sit here a few minutes longer we'll see that scene, remember, in which the heroine lies gagged and bound on the elevated tracks while the helpless hero, down in the lumber mill, is ogling that buzz saw that's aiming for his neck. . . .

But say, it does seem different. Seems to me the last time we saw this show the only sounds were the popping of gum and the crackling of peanut shells around us. Gosh, did you hear that? That cowboy TALKED! What d'ya know?

He said "Come on, boys, we'll head 'em off at Eagle Pass!"

Ain't it grand? Say, let's see this show again! . . . Lady, would you mind removing that funny hat? . . .

* * *

It's true. The cast of characters has changed, but the stories are just the same. I don't see Broncho Billy Anderson around, nor Tom Mix, nor good old Bill Hart.. But lookit, fellas, lookit:

Errol Flynn and O. DeHavilland in "Dodge City," a shoot-em-up saga in technicolor.

James Stewart in "Destry Rides Again," an elaboration of the old Tom Mix hit to be done up with spectacular western scenery.

Robert Taylor and Wallace Beery in "Stand Up and Fight," probing the vital problem of stagecoach days in Maryland when the B. & O. was cutting in something awful.

Joel McCrea and Barbara Stanwyck in "Union Pacific," DeMille's current attack of epic-itis.

James Cagney and Rosemary Lane in "The Oklahoma Kid," cowboys, Indians, and the big land rush.

* * *

To learn first-hand what this up-to-date old cycle is doing to our current heroes, I dropped around to an outdoor set where that redoubtable two-gun man, Mr. James Cagney of New York's upper East Side, later of Yorkville, was assisting in preliminary tests of a horse named Wheezer.

The general idea, as Director Lloyd Bacon explained it, was to learn if Wheezer was becoming to Cagney, and vice versa.

Our hero had on his cowboy clothes. Ten-gallon hat neatly strapped under his chin. Dusty blue shirt "aged" so realistically, he declared, that it smelled. Leather jacket, pants, boots, spurs—and boyish bob. By the time the picture starts he will be able to "put it up" or keep the bob.

"Have you, Mister Cagney, ever before met a horse, either socially or professionally?" I probed.

"Once or twice—but only casually," he replied. "But smile, stranger, when you say them words. It's the Aklahoma Kid a-telling' ye!"

At this moment Wheezer, a bay beauty, was ready so Cagney got on. And right now I've got to disappoint you. Our hero may not be in champ form yet, but he stayed on. He rode, I may say, with some authority. He galloped about for quite a while, and the only thing he knocked down was a silvered reflector—but Wheezer should have known better.

"We'll head 'em off at Eagle Pass," our hero muttered.

And that was where we came in.

Dozen Teams Still Eligible for National Grid Title

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Football enters the critical November phase of a brilliant season with a dozen teams still eligible for the national championship sweepstakes.

Rank them as you choose at this point but the undefeated and untied list of major outfits includes Pitt, Dartmouth and Georgetown in the east; Tennessee and Duke in the south; California and Santa Clara in the far west; Texas Christian and Texas Tech in the southwest; Notre Dame, Iowa State and Oklahoma in the mid-west.

National championship speculation also must include Northwestern's Wildcats, conquerors of Minnesota but held to a scoreless draw by Ohio State.

After last Saturday's extraordinary list of gridiron "naturals," never hitherto equalled in October, there is a noticeable falling off in the class of this week's program. High spots of the slate include:

EAST: Pitt, the unquestioned leader after its 21-point fourth period rally that trounced Fordham, 24-13, will need to fight off a natural let-down in its annual clash with tough Carnegie Tech. Dartmouth has a breather in little Dickinson, while Georgetown plays Bucknell. Of the other unbeaten eastern outfits, Boston College and Villanova both will need to tread warily against intersectional rivals. The Eagles play Indiana, which held Wisconsin to a 6-0 count, while Villanova, surprised by a 6-6 tie with South Carolina, takes an Auburn.

Topping the intersectional list, however, is Notre Dame's meeting with Navy at Baltimore. The Irish spotted army a touchdown in the first few minutes of play and then won out on a fourth-period drive, 19-7. Navy was held to a scoreless tie by Penn despite a strong finish. Harvard plays Chicago; battered Fordham tackles St. Mary's Gaels; Columbia, well shellacked by Cornell, 23-7, meets an improving Virginia team. Syracuse squares away against its greatest rival, Colgate. Holy Cross, meanwhile, plays Temple.

MIDDLE WEST: Northwestern's stunning 6-3 upset of Minnesota left the Wildcats tied for the Big Ten lead with Ohio State whose Buckeyes leisurely mopped up New York university, 32-0. Northwestern plays Wisconsin next while Ohio State takes on Purdue, held to an amazing scoreless tie by Iowa's Hawkeyes. Iowa may be the innocent victim of Minnesota's fury in the remaining Big Ten game of the week. Michigan plays host to Penn.

In the Big Six, Oklahoma plays Kansas State. Kansas, engineer of a tremendous upset in a 27-7 beating to Kansas State, meets Nebraska, stopped 13-0 by the Missouri Tigers. Missouri may be overpowered by Michigan State.

SOUTHWEST: Three conference games are on the slate but Texas Christian, the leader, does not figure in any of them. The Horned Frogs, possibly the greatest team in the sector, meets Tulsa. Southern Methodist and Rice, unbeaten within the conference, will aim at their second successive conference victories against Texas A. and M. and Arkansas, respectively.

SOUTH: Tennessee's 14-6 conquest of Louisiant State left the Vols far out in front in the Southeastern conference race with Tulane and Georgia the only other squads without conference defeat. While Tennessee takes it comparatively easy against Chattanooga, a heavy conference schedule sends Louisiana against Mississippi State; Tulane against Alabama, Vanderbilt against Sewanee and Georgia Tech against Kentucky.

FAR WEST: Tied with four successive victories, California and Southern California probably will settle the Pacific Coast conference crown in their annual battle at Los Angeles. U. C. L. A., which nipped Stanford, 6-0, plays Washington State, the cellar-dweller, in the only other conference game. Independent Santa Clara plays San Francisco on Sunday.

Tygers' Failure to Beat Kenmore Reduces Odds on Ashland Game

Mansfield Loses Third Straight Game as Akron Takes Advantage of Interceptions, Fumbles.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

There will be few passes whipped by the Tygers next Saturday when they run over to Ashland to renew the oldest rivalry on their schedule if their experience over the last week-end serves as a lesson.

Mansfield high's aerial attack worked perfectly for the flock of Cardinals who winged down from Akron Kenmore last Saturday, and Mr. Russ Murphy's men cannot afford to be so pleasant to any foe.

LEHR

Gift touchdowns have been presented with frequency by the hapless Tygers this autumn, but never did they play the roles of congenial hosts more perfectly than Saturday at Stadium field where 2,500 followers saw them roll down the curtain on the home end of their schedule with a disappointing 33 to 6 defeat.

Four pass interceptions and a fumble were turned into touchdowns by the visiting Cardinals as they hung up their most decisive victory in years.

It was only their third victory of the season, and the final score shows that they didn't take any chances of it getting away from them as they took advantage of every break to register their first win over a Mansfield team.

Kenmore's other triumphs this season came at the expense of Cuyahoga Falls, which has won only one game, and Akron Central, which it defeated to account for one of the major upsets in the Akron city league.

The defeat was the third straight for the Tygers, whose record now includes three victories and four setbacks.

* * *

Miller Stages One-Man Show.

MANSFIELD grid followers have witnessed a number of spectacular individual performances on Stadium field sod this season, but never one like the 190-pound Miller presented.

Without Miller, Kenmore would possess little more than a set of uniforms. Miller not only did virtually all of the ball carrying, passing and kicking, but most of the tackling. He scored three touchdowns, three extra points and gained 156 of the 175 yards obtained by Kenmore via rushing.

However, despite the brilliancy of Miller's play, Mansfield did not deserve a shellacking such as the Kenmores administered Saturday.

Mansfield's minions of the grid actually outplayed Kenmore, the statistics will show, but touchdowns, regardless of how they are scored, tell the tale in the final analysis.

Even with the great Miller toting the leather, Kenmore never was able to show a sustained drive. All of their touchdown marches originated deep in Mansfield territory.

Kenmore needed to go only 25 yards for the first score after recovering Marshall Smith's fumble. The second came after Miller returned Red Lemunyon's interception to the 21. Brickles' return of another interception from Lemunyon's paw to the 30 set the stage for the third touchdown in the first half.

In the fourth period, Brickles took one of Capt. Rich Nagle's throws out of the air and fought back to Mansfield's 39 before being brought down. Kenmore's fourth touchdown resulted almost immediately. An interception on Mansfield's 33 enabled Kenmore to tally its last score in the fading minutes of the game.

Mansfield's overland game was effective Saturday, but frequent fumbling had as much to do with its failure to score more often than the visitors' defensive skill. Seven times the Tygers bobbled the leather, and four times the Cardinals retrieved the ball.

The Tygers' only touchdown came midway in the first period after Joe Lehr blocked Miller's punt, Lemunyon taking the ball over on a wide sweep to his right from the 30.

Mansfield threatened several times. In the first period, for instance, the Tygers reached Kenmore's 27, but lost the ball on a fumble. Murphy's men lost the pigskin on downs on the 25 in the second quarter. Mansfield got as far as the 13 in the third chapter when Lemunyon's fumble was recovered and another bobble in the fourth frame past the middle of the field halted what appeared to be a touchdown march.

* * *

Tygers Hold Edge In Statistics.

STATISTICE show that the Tygers accumulated 253 yards from running and passing to 222 for Kenmore, completed five out of 14 passes to four out of 14 and added 11 first downs to eight, but the figures are more than balanced by interceptions, bobbles and touchdowns.

Only three seniors started the ball game for Mansfield, and the team's performance was not strengthened by the regular lineup inserted after the intermission.

With virtually all hope of salvaging anything from the disastrous 1938 season lost, Murphy contemplates on using sophomores and juniors freely in the two final games.

What stacked up as a "breather" for Mansfield next Saturday has developed into what appears to be another tough assignment. Mansfield's failure to show any semblance of winning football in recent appearances and Ashland's improvement adds up to a lot of trouble for the Tygers again this week.

Ashland broke a three-game losing streak Saturday by defeating Mt. Vernon, 12 to 6, and it gave a fine demonstration of football while doing it.

Only Rain Can Postpone Race

50,000 to See Seabiscuit, War Admiral Go.

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The weatherman was the fair-haired boy today as the match race of the mighty, the showdown tomorrow between Seabiscuit and War Admiral, neared the zero hour of starting time on Pilico's manicured mile and three-sixteenths of cushioned turf.

Barring a forfeiture, only one thing can postpone this oft-scheduled but never run race and that is rain between now and 8:30 tomorrow morning, when one Jervis Spencer, jr., Maryland racing commission chairman, walks on the track for a final look-see and a momentous decision.

If he rules "It's Fast," the Biscuit and the Admiral will go postward about 3:50 p. m. (E.S.T.), even though it should rain proverbial cats and dogs after the official ruling. That's in the agreement. If he rules it isn't fast, the race will be postponed until Thursday and a lot of people, about 50,000 of them, will be temporarily disappointed.

Stopped By Wildcat Forces

Punching over a touchdown in the last period, Northwestern blasted Minnesota's championship hopes, 6 to 3, in a hard fought battle at Evanston Saturday. The picture shows Moore of the Gophers being tackled after registering a first down around the Purple's right end.

Tygers' Three Losses Tie Record of 1924 Team; Must Win Remaining Games to End Above .500

TO FINISH above the .500 mark this fall, it will be necessary for the gridmen of Mansfield high to win the two games remaining on their schedule.

The Tygers' game with Ashland Saturday will be followed by a setto with Canton McKinley, a school Mansfield has never met on the gridiron.

Undefeated this season, McKinley's Bulldogs defeated a crack Alliance team, 33 to 26, in one of the most spectacular scoring games staged in the state this season.

* * *

Mansfield's 33 to 6 defeat by Akron Kenmore was the third straight and fourth of the season. It marked the first time since 1924 that a Mansfield team has dropped three in a row. The 1924 team lost to Galion, 20 to 0; Barberton, 25 to 0, and Elyria, 18 to 7.

* * *

Although disappointed in the performance of the Tygers, Mansfield fans again were offered a chance to do a little cheering when the band and girls' drum corps made their appearance on the field. J. Merton Holcombe's musicians again presented a dazzling performance.

Pretty Martha Spetka, assisted by Drum Majors Bill Wygant and George O'Dell, led the bandsmen through an intricate "M" that literally brought the "house down." Martha Metcalfe also did a nifty bit of baton wielding during the intermission.

The Simpson Junior high band also contributed to the intermission show.

* * *

Lloyd Miller, Kenmore fullback, probably presented the greatest individual performance ever witnessed at Stadium field, but he left the field without a single cheer. Deserving a big ovation, Miller left the field during a wholesale substitution, and his replacement went unnoticed by Mansfield fans.

* * *

Marshall Smith and Red Lemunyon were the leading ground gainers for the Tygers. Smith accumulated 59 yards in 10 ball carrying attempts, while Lemunyon added 74 in 15. The longest gain from scrimmage was run off by Smith in the first period when he got away for 23 yards on an offtackle play.

Miller, Kenmore's ace, reeled off the longest run of the day in the third period when he traveled 46 yards on a sweep before being brought to the ground.

* * *

The most spectacular play of the entire game was nullified by a penalty. With the ball on Kenmore's 44 in the opening period, Howard Hershey stepped through the entire Kenmore team to cross the goal line standing up, but the play was called back and Mansfield penalized 15 yards for clipping. Hershey's lengthy return of kicks were features of the game.

* * *

* * *

Conversion of a pass interception into a touchdown and a long march enabled Ashland to defeat Mt. Vernon, 12 to 6, Saturday. A pass from Burns to Mumaw gave the A's their first score in the second period. The other touchdown was registered in the third frame when Fritzinger crashed over from the one-foot line to culminate a long march.

Farrell Hipp Leads Scoring With 689 Pins

Paces Moose Team in Win Over Wooster Keglers.

Farrell Hipp plastered the wood for a rousing 689 total to hold the spotlight in matches bowled at the Meder Recreation alleys Sunday.

Bowling with the Moose No. 1 team, Hipp spilled games of 237, 206 and 246 as he led his club to a 2925 total and three wins over Wooster in a lodge traveling league match.

Sonny Meder contributed a fancy 646 to the Mansfield total with scores of 217, 223 and 206.

Coals, Bantams Lose To Sandusky, Akron

K-B's Suffer Sixth Loss by Touchdown Margin; Forest Gardens Beat Garden Acres, 7-6.

By CHARLES MARTIN

A DISAPPOINTED band of Mansfield semi-pro gridsters limped off the field at League park yesterday after absorbing their sixth straight defeat of the season.

They were the Kallmerten and Baer pigskin representatives, who finished on the short end of a 7 to 0 score in a bruising battle with the Simplex Radio eleven of Sandusky.

Still unable to uncover an offense that will produce touchdowns, the Coals saw their chances of victory slip away as their attack bogged down everytime they moved into Sandusky territory.

Score In Second Period.

The Radios, playing without the services of Bud Krueger, erstwhile Sandusky high star, who is out for the season with a broken ankle, struck in the second period to win the contest.

Completely outplayed in the opening chapter, Sandusky set the stage for their touchdown when Bennett intercepted a Mansfield forward on the Coals' 40 and returned it to the 15. A first down placed the ball on the K-B's five and Johnny Mazza raced over on a sweep from the one on the third play.

Stieuel, who ran the Mansfielders ragged all afternoon, added the point on a drop kick.

Gil Wiegand proved to be the Coals' principal running threat in the second half as he dug through the Sandusky line to lead a Mansfield drive to the Radios' 20, where a fumble ended the threat.

It looked for awhile yesterday as though the K-B's were going to hit their stride in the opening period when they recovered a Sandusky fumble on the invaders' 48. Mansfield stormed down the field only to lose the ball on downs on the 11.

Sandusky opened another goalward drive from its own 40 in the closing minutes of the last quarter and had placed the ball on the Mansfield 11 as the gun cracked.

Spectators witnessed some fancy slugging at the intermission when several Mansfield and Sandusky players started mixing it up after a K-B player had charged into the visitors' passer on the last play in the opening half.

Boxer With Radios.

Bud Stirtzinger, outstanding Sandusky heavyweight amateur, who appeared on the J. A. C. boxing card here last winter, was stationed at left end for the Radios, and turned in a creditable performance.

The Simplex combine outrushed the Coals 12 first downs to eight.

Gaylord Bucher, Sturgeon and Schwaner were outstanding in the Mansfield forward wall.

Recovered Fumbles Win For Akron.

CLYDE ADAMS' bantamweight football team experienced the thrill of leading its adversary in a tussle with the Summit county children's home of Akron at the Fairground Sunday.

But when the smoke of the battle had cleared away, the Mansfield midgets held the short end of the score, losing by a 13 to 6 count.

Show Improvement.

Although beaten, Coach Harry Dankakis' 130-pounders showed considerable improvement over their first appearance, and may be heard from yet. That was the conviction of several hundred fans who witnessed the exciting affray.

The inexperienced Mansfield club scored in the second period to hold a 6 to 0 lead at the intermission. The Akron club knotted the count in the third period and won the decision in the final frame.

Left Halfback Wise of the Dandakis team grabbed a bad punt on Akron's 35 and slipped through the entire visiting club to score standing up. A pass for the extra point failed.

A fumble set the stage for the first Akron touchdown. The bobble was recovered on the Mansfield 35. Akron made a first down on the 18 and then Baughman passed to Donnelly for the touchdown.

Turn Fumble Into Score.

Another fumble set off the winning scoring play on the Mansfield 40. With Baughman and Catalonia taking turns at lugging the leather, Akron marched to the four the spot from where Baughman scored. Baughman plunged through center for the extra point.

Extra Point Wins for Forest Gardens.

A TOUCHDOWN early in the fourth period enabled the Forest Gardens to defeat the Garden Acres, 7 to 6, in a bantamweight football game on the losers' field Sunday before 200 spectators.

Held for three downs on the seven-yard line, L. Siwek got loose on the fourth down to score. Smith then tossed to Hess for the extra point. McCartney tallied for the losers on a buck from the three in the second quarter.

12th Man Spills Touchdown Runner

CINCINNATI—(INS)—One of the wildest and woolliest games in Cincinnati football history went down in the books today as a 33-to-7 victory for Xavier over Providence. Feature of the game was the appearance in the second quarter of a 12th man on the Providence team.

Tom Hogan, Xavier back, intercepted a pass near his own goal line, wound up and set sail for the opposite end of the field. As he neared midfield, John Barnini, Providence substitute center who was sitting on the bench, ran out and spilled Hogan.

Buckeyes Favored In Big 10

Ohio Can Cop Title by Winning Remaining Games; Face Purdue Next.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio State's Bucks pointed toward the three Big Ten "climax" football games on their schedule today with more confidence than at any previous time this fall.

Although no one from Coach Francis Schmidt down to the fifth assistant team manager minimized the task ahead, the Ohio State entourage felt greatly pepped up from the Bucks 32 to 0 walloping of New York U. and Northwestern's 6 to 3 upset of mighty Minnesota Saturday.

Play Improved Ball.

It was not the size of the N. Y. U. victory that meant so much—Ohio State beat Chicago 42 to 7—but the business-like manner in which it was accomplished. Inspired blocking, passing, running, kicking and general all-around alertness by the Scarlets instilled more confidence in State's chances for at least a share of the Big Ten championship.

The Wildcats' triumph made the day's results almost perfect. Northwestern and Ohio State today were the only unbeaten conference teams, having played a scoreless deadlock against each other. Inasmuch as the Bucks play six league games and the Wildcats only five, the percentages will be in favor of Ohio State in case both elevens win their remaining games.

But the Ohio State path is a rocky one, beset by Purdue's stout Boilermakers in Ohio stadium next Saturday, and followed by Illinois and Michigan.

Schmidt's pupils, however, will enter these frays better equipped offensively than earlier in the year. A dormant "razzle-dazzle" aerial attack suddenly came to life in the second quarter against the Violets and tallied four touchdowns to ice away Saturday's game. The forwards and laterals of olden days filled the air as Mike Kabealo, Jim Sexton and Bill Bullock heaved strikes to Jim Strausbaugh, Don Scott and Jim Langhurst.

Daring Mike, the senior, and Dashing Don, the sophomore, in particular scintillated under full steam for the first time this fall and demonstrated new offensive threats in the Buck drive for a Big Ten title share. Kabealo's punting was the best of his career. He averaged nearly 52 yards per try in the first half.

Tough Defensively.

With the offense apparently clicking at last, the Scarlet linemen will have a big responsibility against the Purdue forwards in Ohio stadium next Saturday. The Boilermaker line, which held Minnesota, Wisconsin and Fordham to one touchdown each and Iowa scoreless, in the last four games rates as one of the stoutest in the conference.

BULKLEY-TAFT DEBATES TURN POLITICAL EYES TOWARD OHIO

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Ohio, "mother of Presidents," is watching a good old-fashioned political show that may help cast some of the roles on the 1940 stage.

The New Deal is a clean-cut issue in the race for the senate between Robert A. Taft, son of the late president and supreme court justice, and Senator Robert J. Bulkley, administration supporter who received a pat on the back from President Roosevelt in his bid for reelection.

They Stick to Issues.

The two candidates have done nothing to distract the voters from the issue. Taft, member of a famous family and Cincinnati lawyer, denounces the New Deal. Bulkley, a Cleveland lawyer, defends the President's purposes. They refrain from personalities.

And just to make it plainer, they revived the old custom of political debates. They agreed to meet each other on the same platform six times in various cities. (The last debate was held in Cleveland Saturday night).

Thus again Ohio, by tradition a "pivotal" state, gains national political significance.

Republicans, with a mind to 1940, particularly are watching the trend of the Buckeye state. Taft, Ohio observers believe, would become a national figure in 1940 should he unseat Bulkley He was the "favorite son" of the Ohio delegation in the 1936 Republican convention.

Labor Divided On Candidates.

National interest in the gubernatorial contest is directed largely to labor's divided stand in this industrial state. Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic national committeeman, is pitted against John W. Bricker, former Republican attorney general.

Sawyer has the backing of CIO's Labor Non-Partisan league and the personal endorsement of William Green, president of AFL, who votes in Ohio.

But AFL locals over the state have split in deciding whether to support Sawyer or Bricker. The state federation has taken no stand.

Sawyer, often a New Deal critic, won the Democratic nomination over Gov. Martin L. Davey, who called out troops in last year's "little steel" strike in Ohio.

Tomorrow: Kansas.

OLIN, CHATLAIN STAR ON COLLEGE GRIDIRONS

What Mansfield boys did on the collegiate gridirons Saturday:

DICK OLIN, fullback, provided the biggest thrill of the day as he scored on a 38-yard run as Kenyon defeated Otterbein, 18 to 7.

ED CHATLAIN, end, played brilliantly as Wittenberg handed Oberlin its first defeat by a 9 to 6 score.

Packers Halt Rams' Streak

Favored to Win Title After Winning 28 to 7.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Green Bay Packers held the favored position today to capture top honors in the western division of the National Professional Football league, but there appeared doubtful security in their top spot. The Packers take on the Chicago Bears next Sunday and foresee plenty of trouble.

Meanwhile, the Brooklyn Dodgers kept Washington's Redskins from strengthening their first place position in the eastern division by holding the defending champions to a 6-6 tie, the second deadlock between the two this season.

Green Bay, playing before a crowd of 18,483, the largest in Cleveland pro football history, employe passes to score four touchdowns and a 28 to 7 triumph over the Cleveland Rams. Don Hutson, former Alabama star, scored three of the markers.

At Chicago, the Detroit Lions marched 73 yards for a touchdown in the last period to whip the Bears 13 to 7 after holding a 6-0 halftime lead.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Green Bay Packers professional football team left for home today, leaving behind a badly battered group of Cleveland Rams.

Unleashing an aerial attack that completely baffled the Rams, the Packers defeated Cleveland by the score of 28 to 7. All four Green Bay touchdowns were made via the air route, Don Hutson, fleet-footed left end, accounting for three of them.

Cleveland's lone touchdown was made in the third period on an intercepted pass.

The Packers' first touchdown came in the first period, Clark Hinkle taking a pass from the 15-yard line to score.

The score remained unchanged until the middle of the second period when Hutson went into action. He took a pass on his own 47-yard line and streaked across the field. None of the Rams were able to overtake him. Shortly before the half ended Hutson scored again. With the ball on Cleveland's 31-yard line, Hutson dodged into the end zone and took a high pass to tally again.

The Packers' final tally came in the third period, Bob Monnett hurling a pass all of 40 feet to Hutson.

FAVOR CHANGE IN GRID POLICY AT WESLEYAN

DELAWARE —(U.P.)— Final results of a poll of the Ohio Wesleyan student opinion revealed today that only seven per cent are opposed to some change in the football policy of the university.

The poll, conducted by the Ohio Wesleyan Transcript, student newspaper, covered opinions of 1,140 students. Two blocs of equal strength—38 per cent—favored subsidation of players or a change in the coaching staff. Seventeen per cent believed the school should schedule "less powerful" opponents. The vote was taken before the Bishops scored their first points of the year and upset Miami, 20 to 16, in the homecoming game here Saturday.

'SUDDEN DEATH' RULE ADOPTED FOR 1938-39

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The "sudden death" ruling which has been in effect during all overtime state tournament basketball teams will prevail generally during the 1938-39 scholastic cage season. H. R. Townsend, state high school athletic commissioner, said today.

The first team to score two points after the overtime period has been launched will be the winner of the game. If one five is one point ahead at the end of the first overtime period, that five is automatic winner.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Formidable foes lurk in the offing next Saturday for the leaders in Ohio's college pigskin parade.

Only four of the state's three dozen teams have sidestepped the season's series of upsets to maintain undefeated records, and two of the four have been tied. Only Western Reserve and John Carroll have clean records for the campaign, and Saturday brings an outstanding opportunity for them to fall off the pedestal.

Faces Toledo Team.

The Red Cats entertain West Virginia university at Cleveland, while John Carroll meets Toledo's Rockets on the Maumee city grid where only two weeks ago the Spearsmen dragged Marshall's rampaging herd out of the unbeaten class, 13 to 7.

Even Ohio Northern, in third place with five victories and a tie, has nothing easy on for Saturday.

The Polar Bears meet Muskingum at New Concord, where the Muskies are expected to be tough after Saturday's scoreless tie with Wooster's Scots. The fourth-place Woosterites have Oberlin as their foe and should win handily.

Those games are the purely Ohio features on Saturday's 19-tilt schedule, but some of the other contestants have felt the sting of defeat.

Miami, smarting under the 20-16 upset at the hands of Ohio Wesleyan, will try to get back on the winning side against Ohio university at Oxford, and should the Redskins turn the trick the Buckeye conference race would be wide open again. The Bobcats from Athens, who have played but one league contest, are the only unbeaten squad in the circuit.

At Columbus, Ohio State meets Purdue in a Western conference clash, while six Ohio conference frays, including the Toledo-Carroll, Northern-Muskingum and Wooster-Oberlin events, are on the menu. The other Ohio loop games are Kent State at Bowling Green, Denison at Wittenberg, and Capital at Findlay.

Xavier at Dayton.

Fisticuffs Again Get Spears In Headlines

By FELIX B. WOLD

DETROIT—(AP)—The jolly Dr. Clarence W. Spears, whose grin covers a vast expanse but whose scowl can be black as a goal line fumble, was back in football limelight today.

The "Good Doctor," as he was known to Minnesota, Oregon and Wisconsin where he coached teams with pile-driving offensives, paid a little call at the Wayne university dressing room Saturday after his Toledo university eleven had thumped Wayne, 39 to 20.

Accounts differed, but the situation had reached such proportions today that Coach Joe Gembis of Wayne, the other leading man in the dressing room by-play, said he feared Wayne and Toledo might have to quit playing one another.

It seems Spears didn't admire the work of Saturday's officials.

Spears, ever the man to stand up for his rights, said "someone" took a punch at him after Gembis had asked him to leave the room, and "I departed after swinging back."

"But I didn't hit anybody," he said.

From Gembis:

"That's not so. He started arguing about the officiating. So I said, 'Well, Doc, I don't want anything to do with you'."

Gembis said he held Spears' arm to lead him to the door "and then he swung at me."

"I jumped back and put up my guard," Gembis said, and then one of the freshman coaches jumped in and let him have it. He swung back and then we separated them and got him out. I guess both of them got in one blow apiece."

Spears' team had been penalized 70 yards, and during the game he was reported to have made complaints. Spears said Gembis had resented his entrance to the dressing room afterwards and "told me to leave when I walked in."

Gembis, asserting he had "too many witnesses" to fear Spears' account, said he was ready to go on the carpet before university authoritiees with the "whole story."

"I think," he reflected, "that maybe Doc doesn't like us because we've been outsmarting him with the same old Michigan plays he'd seen for years."

Gembis was a football star at the University of Michigan.

LaSalle Stages 'Clinic' to Check Up on Blades

Now comes a "shaving clinic" to prove to the manufacturers of LaSalle blades that their Swedish steel blades, perfected after years of research and actual tests, will provide a consistently smooth shave, free from harsh "whisker pull" and face burn.

The picture shows one of these "clinics" in operation, a plan conceived by the LaSalle company, to help check the "precision manufacture" of blades.

P. L. Remy, 45 Augustine avenue, is the LaSalle distributor for Mansfield and vicinity. The blades are available at scores of independent stores.

Despite the precaution provided in each step of manufacture of LaSalle precision blades, "with checks and rechecks of steel hardening and tempering, the extreme care used in the sharpening and final honing processes, there is always a chance of blades going wrong," Louis O. Black, general manager of the LaSalle company, explained.

"We are adopting the clinic plans as another check to produce blades that will cut keenly and provide satisfactory service," Black said.

"If we can please the men with heavy stubborn beards, men who have no interest in the blades other than a smooth, pleasant shave, we feel confident that we have perfected a blade that will please the masses."

Clinics for shavers are held everywhere — sometimes in store washrooms, sometimes in factory dressing rooms and wherever else the occasion arises. Comments or criticisms of the shavers are noted and forwarded to the factory in an effort to continually improve the blade.

NORTON THIRD GENERATION OF HIS FAMILY IN SHOE REPAIRING

Shoe repairing comes by nature to W. F. Norton, proprietor of Norton's Shoe Repair Service, 46 West Third street, for he is the third generation of his family who has followed this vocation.

Since he was a child, Mr. Norton has virtually lived amidst the benches and machines of a shoe shop. His father operated a shoe repair establishment for many years while his grandfather was a shoemaker of the old school.

So it wasn't unusual for young Norton to follow this business from a boy up. He still remembers how he used to watch his father sole shoes when he was a boy of five. At 12 he was able to operate any of the equipment in the shop including a stitcher.

During his high school career he worked in the shop after school and on Saturdays. He paid his own way by working at shoe repairing when he attended Ohio Wesleyan university.

Mr. Norton launched his business career at the time cementing was coming into use in the shoe repair field. He saw in it the possibilities of turning out an expert job of half soling without resorting to the old styled cobbling with which he never had been satisfied.

W. F. NORTON

His business from the start featured "invisible half soling" while others continued to use nails. Since then he developed this method until now his shop turns out repair work that can restore the average shoe to its almost original appearance.

At no time does the Norton shop use nails for half soling as complete equipment makes it possible to either cement or stitch the soles of any footwear.

How well this driving for perfection in shoe repairing has been accepted by the public is attested by the steady growth of the Norton Repair Service which now ranks with the leaders in the state.

Mr. Norton's aim at all times is to "do things a little better than the next fellow." But his demand for perfection does not stop at workmanship. He takes particular pride in the appearance of his shop which he believes should be as friendly and as pleasing to the eye as the most modern of retail establishments.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Outward Bound By Harold Gray

AW, IT'D BE FUN TO STAY A BIT- BUT I NEVER WAS ONE TO TARRY WHEN MY JOB WAS DONE - CAPT'N ALDEN, SLEEPING ON THE HILL - HA! HE'D ENJOY THIS - HE WAS ALWAYS ONE FOR A GOOD JOKE - PERHAPS SOMEWHERE, SOMEHOW, HE KNOWS
A JOB WELL DONE - AS FOR HIS MISSUS, FOR ROSE AND JACK, OR LITTLE ANNIE - THEY DON'T NEED OLD SHANGHAI - NO - IT'S TIME TO GO, AND I'M OFF --- WHO CARES WHERE? AT LAST I'M FREE AGAIN AND OFF TO SEA -
"ROLL DOWN - ROLL DOWN TO SEA - ROLL REALLY DOWN TO SEA! OH, I'D LOVE TO ROLL TO SEA SOME DAY BEFORE I'M OLD!
AHOY, THE SCHOONER!
AHOY, TH' SHORE! HA! IT'S CAPT'N SHANGHAI — ALL HANDS ON DECK TO CAST OFF!
WHERE'S SHANGHAI? WHERE DID HE GO?
HE'S NOT IN HIS ROOM, IN THE MAIN SHIP—
HE'S TAKEN ALL OF HIS BELONGINGS—
WHO'S HE, HE LEAVE?
I DON'T KNOW— AND I WOULDN'T TELL, YOU IF I DID—

THE NEBBS—Come Into My Parlor By Sol Hess

ALL ALONE? WOULD YOU CARE TO HAVE DINNER WITH US? IT WOULD MAKE US VERY HAPPY
I'LL BE GLAD TO - I'VE BEEN A BIT LONESOME AND UNHAPPY THESE DAYS
IT'S A KIND OF LOVE DISAPPOINTMENT WITH ME - I KEEP TALKING TO MYSELF ABOUT SOMETHING ELSE TO KEEP MY MIND OFF OF IT, BUT IT GOES RIGHT BACK TO THOUGHTS OF HER HOW INTERESTING - WAS IT A YOUNG GIRL?
O.D.
YOU'LL GET OVER THAT - IT'S LIKE RHEUMATISM - YOU FEEL SO GOOD WHEN IT'S OVER WITH
NO, SHE WAS A WIDOW WITH TWO CHILDREN - THE CHILDREN WERE THE CAUSE OF HER NOT MARRYING ME. SHE WAS AFRAID THEY'D MAKE ME UNHAPPY - THEY WERE TERRIBLY SPOILT
GEE, I'D LIKE TO HAVE AN AFFAIR - I WOULDN'T CARE HOW IT TURNED OUT BUT MY BROTHER WATCHES ME LIKE I WAS A CHILD OF FIFTEEN

BUYING SUPPORT IN SECOND HOUR REDUCES LOSSES

Rails Bear Brunt of Selling; N. Y. Central, Great Northern Principal Losers.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Rail stocks bore the brunt of early selling in today's market which knocked down leaders fractions to around 2 points at the worst.

Buying support appeared near the second hour and extreme losses were substantially reduced in most cases.

The reversal in the carriers followed Saturday's report of the president's fact-finding committee recommending the roads withdraw their demands for a 15 per cent wage slash.

Principal share losers included Great Northern, Northern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric and Du Pont.

Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, American Smelting and Celanese ran counter to the trend with modest advances.

Rail bonds dipped in company with transportation stocks. Bonds were slightly uneven.

Noted was the survey of the magazine "Steel," which said that the retarding effect of recent price unsettlement has been successfully removed and that heavy tonnages of flat-rolled steel, booked during the temporary period of price cutting, are reflected in rising output of this material.

A prop for sentiment was found in forecasts of the department of agriculture placing next year's level of industrial activity above that of 1938, with the probability that demand for farm products in 1939 would be considerably more favorable.

RADIO PROGRAM SPREADS HORROR OVER COUNTRY

Thousands Thrown Into Panic by Dramatization of Martian Invasion.

But listeners viewed the broadcast with mixed feelings, principally that they had been untowardly frightened and duped.

The broadcast was an adaptation of H. G. Wells' imaginative "War of the Worlds," further dramatized and enacted by Orson Welles, the 23-year-old Broadway theatrical prodigy. Welles Americanized the locale and situations.

Four times during the program, CBS pointed out, the announcer stressed that the story was nothing but fiction.

This comforting reiteration either escaped many of those who tuned in for the full program or was lost entirely to part-time listeners or late tuners-in, for it failed to prevent a hysteria unknown to the United States since the World war.

Welles, who startled the theater ocularly last season by potraying a Caesar in modern dress with Fascist leanings, was overcome by the unbelievable reaction to his presentation of the thriller-turned-horrifier.

In a statement expressing "deep regret" over apprehension the broadcast caused among radio listeners, Welles said:

"Far from expecting the radio audience to take the program as fact rather than a fictional presentation, we feared that the classic H. G. Wells story, which has served as inspiration for so many moving pictures, radio serials and even comic strips, might appear too old-fashioned for modern consumption."

The "Mercury Theater of the Air" program started out last night in routine fashion with announcements and a few bars of music.

Suddenly—"We interrupt our program of dance music to bring you a special bulletin. . . . Twenty minutes before eight, Professor Farrell of the Mt. Jennings observatory, Chicago, Ill., reports several explosions of the incandescent gas occurring at regular intervals on the planet Mars."

This was the buildup for a dramatization that eventually had the Martians landing in meteor cars with the shock of an earthquake in the vicinity of Grover's Mills (fictition locale), New Jersey. . . . A 30-second pause for studio music . . . Then the octopus-like Martians using the dread "heat-ray" and then, by telephone from the scene, the report of 40 persons dead there . . . The Martians eventually succumbed to germs that we worldlings are immune to.

Columbia declared afterward it had no intention of misleading listeners "and when it became evident that part of the audience had been disturbed by the performance, five announcements were made over the network later in the evening to reassure those listeners."

Tubes, Not Meteors.

A moment after the build-up announcement of gas explosions on Mars, the scene of the fantasy switched to Princeton, where an astronomer undertook to "explain" the phenomena.

Another meteor "struck" at nearby Grover's Mill to interrupt the professor, who rushed out with the announcer to investigate.

It was a giant tube of metal, they reported, not a meteor at all.

"Just a minute," the announcer called. "Something's happening! Ladies and gentlemen, this is terrific!

"The end of the thing is beginning to come off. The top is beginning to rotate like a screw! The thing must be hollow."

Babble of Voices.

There was a babble of voices as fictitious spectators grew alarmed.

"Look! The darn thing's unscrewing—keep back! keep back, I tell you! Maybe there's men in it, trying to escape! It's red hot. They'll burn to a cinder! Keep back there . . . keep those idiots back."

There was a clanking sound of falling metal—then more voices:

"She's off. The top's loose. Look out there. Stand back!"

Suddenly the "monsters" began crawling out . . . their "firearms" proved to be death ray machines . . . 200 spectators died instantly. "The governor of New Jersey" declared martial law.

Story of Horror.

Through the drone of airplane motors came radio reports of army pilots to headquarters:

"One machine partially crippled. Believed hit by a shell from an army gun . . . a heavy black fog—of extreme density, nature, unknown . . . objective is New York City . . . we're ready to attack . . . they're closer . . . there they go . . . a giant arm is raised . . . they're spraying us with flame."

An "operator" cut in: "Poisonous black smoke from the Jersey marshes . . . gas masks useless . . . urge population to move into open spaces."

"The bells you hear ringing are to warn the people to evacuate the city as the Martians approach."

FCC to Investigate Fantastic Broadcast.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Frank R. McNinch of the Federal Communications commission today wired the Columbia Broadcasting system for a copy of the radio script and a transcription of the broadcast, "The War of The Worlds" broadcast over the Columbia network last night with startling results.

The chairman said the program, which aroused the entire country with its portrayal of the imaginary attack on Princton, N. J., by mysterious monsters of Mars, will be considered at an early meeting of the commission.

What Happened In Other Ohio Cities.

In Cincinnati, two New Yorkers, who had just registered at a hotel and heard the broadcast, ran all the way to police headquarters to demand that "something be done." Residents of suburban Rossmoyne hurriedly left an evening church service after word of the "invasion" reached them.

In Columbus, telephone callers swamped newspaper offices, demanding that the papers put out an "extra" on the "invasion." Police, asked by two persons on the street what was "going on over east" thought their questioners were crazy and threatened to lock them up.

In Dayton, people were curious but not particularly frightened. When they found out the broadcast was only a dramatic program, they were more indignant that scared.

In Cleveland, hundreds of persons made long distance calls to friends and relatives in the east to learn if they were safe. An aged couple started driving for the country, and were dissuaded only by a grocer from whom they stopped to purchase food.

OBSERVE FEAST

Catholics will observe the Feast of All Saints tomorrow, one of the holy days on the church's calendar. Masses at St. Peter's church will be read at 5 a. m., 6, 7, 8 and 9:30 a. m. Services also will be held at 7:30 in the evening.

Wednesday will be the Feast of All Souls.

CHARGES G. O. P. FIGHTS SECURITY

Kennedy Tells 800 Dems Here State Can't Put Program in Hands of Enemies.

"every inch of the way."

"Next year the state will start paying unemployment insurance—a program that will effect virtually everyone in Ohio," Kennedy said.

"Dare Ohio elect a man as governor or to the senate that is opposed to that great program?" he asked.

Kennedy asserted that Bricker was "strangely silent" on the program, but that his record was "one of a destructionist."

"There is but one issue in this campaign as I see it, and that is what is best for Ohio.

"What is best for the farmer? What is best for labor, both organized and unorganized? That is the question that confronts the voters of the state this year."

Praising the work of U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley in Washington, Kennedy said:

"Bulkley has been responsible for more social and progressive legislation than any man who ever served in the senate of the United States."

Defending the national administration's spending program Kennedy asserted that President Roosevelt "is still America's popular idol," and that if he were to run for re-election today he would carry by a larger majority than on any previous election.

"The Republicans would lead us to believe that this country is going to the dogs. But I am here to say that America is not going to hell in spite of big business."

Kennedy cited re-employment figures reported throughout the nation during the past week, stating that a tremendous reduction in WPA had been shown as the result.

"Does that indicate to you that America is going to the dogs?" he asked.

Kennedy lashed the Republican party for charging that the Democratic administration was attempting to buy the election through WPA.

He claimed that if the administration's policy of providing employment and social security for the workers of the nation is buying votes, then the Democratic party will continue to buy them."

Referring to his opponent, Earl Griffith of Mt. Gilead, Republican candidate for secretary of state, Kennedy said:

"My opponent has issued a seven-point program. The only thing I can say about that is that he is trying to outdo Herbert Hoover who issued a six-point program."

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, the other principal speaker, also flayed the Republicans for directing charges at the government's recovery program, calling them "negative critics."

"They charge that WPA is costing every unemployed person in the United States $900 a year and that it has no future, yet they offer no suggestions."

Young said the issue in the congressional race was whether "New Deal policies shall be continued," as he called for the re-election of Congressman William A. Ashbrook and Senator Bulkley.

"We must go forward and not backward," he said. "The soup kitchens and bread lines of Herbert Hoover must not return to the nation."

Young also headlined a rally at the high school in Bellville at which 200 attended before coming to Mansfield. Other speakers at Bellville were Richland County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott and Atty. George Biddle, secretary of the Mansfield civil service commission.

Rounding out the Mansfield rally were Ralph C. Lutz, candidate for re-election to the general assembly and C. L. Mitchell seeking re-election as county commissioner.

Atty. John C. O'Donnell was chairman of the meeting which was followed by dancing to the music of Dale Stevens and his orchestra. The Westinghouse Glee club also entertained.

DEMOCRATIC CALENDAR

The schedule for Democratic meeting for the remainder of the week follows:

Tuesday—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and Assistant Richland County Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz at the I.O.O.F. hall in Lucas and at the Grange hall in Butler.

Wednesday—Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Atty. Biddle and John Correll, president Young Democratic club of Richland county at Plymouth.

Thursday — Congressman William A. Ashbrook and T. J. Duffy, former chairman of the Industrial commission of Ohio, at Shelby rally. Mayor Hunter, County Prosecutor Marriott at First ward rally, Prospect park pavilion. Atty. C. H. Henkel and Correll at Fourth Ward rally at Bowman street school.

Friday — William Pickrel exlieutenant governor of Ohio and Atty. A. S. Beach at rally at Democratic headquarters on West Fourth street.

FILES APPEAL

City, Loser in $25,000 Suit, Asks for New Trial.

City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., today filed a motion for a new trial of a $25,000 damage suit against the city of Mansfield in which a jury returned a $1,200 verdict for William Willet, jr., Cincinnati, plaintiff in the case.

The argument for re-hearing of the case was based on technicalities, with the city contending that the court refused to read certain of the defendant's charges to the jury.

A jury deliberated more than five hours last Thursday before returning its verdict. Willet had asked damages for the death of his wife, Mrs. Julia Willet, in a traffic accident here in June, 1936.

He contended that the accident resulted from a deep rut along Lexington avenue which had been neglected by the city's street department.

TRAIN KILLS 2

Mercury, Crack Flyer, Strikes Car At Crossing Near Toledo.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Two youths believed to have been Carl Ohm, 20, and Eugene Stone, 18, both of Oak Harbor, O., were killed instantly today when the Mercury, crack New York Central railroad passenger train, struck and demolished a truck at a grade crossing two miles west of Oak Harbor.

$20,000 FIRE SWEEPS GALENA

Business Section of Village East of Delaware Hit by Destructive Blaze.

DELAWARE—A midnight fire wiped out four buildings early today in the heart of the village of Galena, 14 miles east of here, causing loss estimated at $20,000.

The blaze was discovered shortly before midnight by 10-year-old Robert Sampson while he lay in bed doing "home work" for school assignments. Not until 4 a. m. was the fire brought under control after threatening to destroy the entire business section in the community of 376 persons.

Two fire engines from Delaware and nearby Westerville arrived too late to save the four buildings already ablaze but the seven Delaware and two Westerville firemen aided volunteers in protecting other structures.

Three of the four destroyed buildings were in a two-story frame business block owned by Floyd C. Barrows, Columbus. They were: Budd's Grocery and Barrow's meat market, opposite the village square on state route No. 3, and the Ohio Central Telephone company branch office.

The fourth structure was the frame residence of Mrs. Letha Newman. She and her four children and four roomers escaped without injury and carried their belongings to the street.

SUBMITS ADDED PROOF OF 'DEAL'

would defeat Bricker by "at least 150,000 votes on Nov. 8." He asserted that the Republicans were "slipping fast." He referred to Bricker's statement in Springfield in which the Republican candidate admitted that he would not carry Cuyahoga county, asserting that three days earlier he had claimed it by 25,000.

"That will give you some idea," Sawyer said, "of how fast Bricker is slipping in the closing days of the campaign."

His statement today that the highway department, as well as the liquor department heads have been approached by Davey to support Bricker, carried the names of ten highway department division engineers, who have signed affidavits to that effect. They are Louis L. Drasler, Cleveland; Harley E. Calvin, Marietta; Joseph M. Doyle, Chillicothe; Harry Sharp, New Philadelphia; J. W. Stopher, Toledo; Carl A Smith, Lima; F. K. Trautman, Newark; Walter E. Willard, Middletown; H. C. Miller, Sidney, and Frank W. Turner, Delaware.

"With their consent, I am now prepared to make their names public," Sawyer said. "They made those statements at grave risk to themselves and did so only because they had the courage to place honor and duty above jobs."

Sawyer charged several days ago that Gov. Davey entered into a patronage deal with Bricker, whereby Bricker would receive Davey's silent support in return for 30 per cent of patronage if Bricker is elected.

Drasler confirmed Sawyer's statement.

"In supporting Sawyer, I am not doing anything wrong," he said. "If I were a Republican I would be for my party too. The party is bigger than any man in it. I signed the affidavit a week ago. Davey called us to Columbus on Oct. 1 and took us to the Ohio State-Indiana football game, the then took us to the mansion and told us not to support Sawyer.

"'Sawyer does not want us; the other side does,' Davey told us. 'You need not worry about your jobs if you do that'."

While Sawyer was making this revelation, Bricker issued a radio appeal for a special session of the legislature to come to the aid of the public schools, which will carry them over the present crisis and "leave the way clear for consideration of a long range program of school finance in 1939."

The political brickbats flew thick and fact over the week-end, not only between the Sawyer and Bricker camps, but between the two candidates for United States senator, Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat, and his Republican opponent, Robert A. Taft.

The series of six "Lincoln-Douglas" debates on the New Deal between the two men were ended Saturday, with each re-affirming early statements and Taft attacking Bulkley's stand on labor.

Taft criticized the labor record of Bulkley declaring the senator "failed to vote for the Wagner Labor Relations act" and "voted against the wage-hour bill." He upheld his own stand on labor, pointing out that as a member of the Ohio legislature he voted for the minimum wage law, against attempts to destroy the workmen's compensation act, and for bills to make "yellow dog" contracts illegal.

Bulkley declared that the "county has no desire to return to the 'let alone' policy of the Hoover administration," and said that the New Deal policies must be entrusted to those who believe in the New Deal aims.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 23

How she got out of the room Judy wondered a long time later. Why she didn't wait for Ronald's answer when Abbey asked him to marry her, she did not know. Perhaps because she was so certain what it would be.

He loved Abbey—he must love Abbey—hadn't they planned together? Hadn't they asked each other desperate questions that morning in the dining room when she came down to an early breakfast?

Even if they had not, there was only one answer that a gentleman could make at such a time.

So Judy began to plan her life again. Sometimes it seemed to her that she was a workman who built, pulled down, adopted another pattern, and tried again. She wondered, then, if any edifice would stand strong and triumphant against the storms.

Then the design contest made its announcement, and Judy, reading it in the paper on the subway, clung to a strap because her knees were suddenly weak, the world was instantly glorious. She had won!

* * *

She knew now that she had not really believed that she would—that she had formed a life buoy of her eager hope and used it to keep her head above the swirling waters of the last weeks.

A man left the train and she sank into the seat. And the train rushed on through station after station and she did not know it. She was savoring for the first time the rich happiness of recognized accomplishment. Later she would get in touch with the contest headquarters, give them her address. They had only her father's law firm address now. Why, how stupid she was! Doubtlessly there was a letter for her there. Maybe the check itself.

But it wasn't the check that was important. It was the fact that the merit of her work had stood out.

She looked, then, at the number on the posts of the subway and saw that she was in Brooklyn. Laughing at her own absent mindedness, she changed trains and started uptown. At Wall street she left the subway and walked down a narrow canyon to the law firm.

Miss Martin came when Judy announced her name.

The secretary had a new deference in her manner. Even in her glow of happiness Judy sensed it Success changed people's attitudes toward you, she observed fleetingly. Her voice lilted, as though a fife and a flute and a violin played together, when she asked: "Is there any mail for me, Miss Martin?"

"Lots of it, Miss Rogers. From everywhere. And Mr. Heaton has been trying to locate you. May I congratulate you?"

"Oh, thank you! Isn't it wonderful?"

"I suppose you'll be opening the town apartment again, won't you?"

"The town apartment? Oh, no, that's closed, waiting to be leased. Besides, it's such a small check. But I do think maybe I can get a job now..."

"A job? But you won't need one!" Miss Martin observed.

For the first time doubt entered Judy's mind. She and Miss Martin might be talking about different things.

"What do you mean—have I an offer, too?" she asked.

"An offer?" The girl's brows were perplexed. "No I don't think so. I don't know. But your father. Those oil wells coming in! It's like a fairy tale!"

Judy sat down, suddenly limp.

"You mean we're rich again?"

"Yes, didn't you know? Oh, of course, you couldn't. I'm so stupid. You disappeared."

It was Mr. Heaton, the senior partner, who talked to Judy. Her father had relented for his harshness. A bank account was at her disposal. The town apartment was to be opened, servants reengaged, her rooms prepared.

Judy listened, not caring. Then she asked: "My mail? Have I any?"

"Yes, a great deal."

He rang for a secretary, who brought it in. Judy skimmed through the envelopes. Ah, here was her notification. She ripped it open. There were formal phrases, but she gathered that her sketches had excited the judges. Would she please get in touch with the headquarters?

"May I use your telephone, Mr. Heaton?" she asked.

"Certainly."

She was Judy Rogers, the heiress, again. Mr. Heaton now had time for her. She could used his telephone, too.

She promised to call at the office of the committee in charge of the contest at ten-thirty the next morning. She listened to a smooth voice saying: "Would you accept a position, Miss Rogers? Cordelli was one of the judges and she's been begging for your address ever since."

* * *

Cordelli! She was one of the six big names in style design. Would she accept a position!

In her glee she jumped up, planted a firm kiss on the elderly lawyer's surprised cheek, grabbed her letters, and ran to the door.

"I'll be back tomorrow," she called.

"Judy, tell us where you live?"

"In a seventh heaven," she answered.

Then suddenly the magic drained away. Facing her in the doorway was a tall young man with red hair, tired gray eyes, a thin face.

"Judy!" he said, and his face grew younger, happier.

"Hello, Ronald. I won the contest."

It was an inane remark now. But she must say something.

"Good girl! I thought you would."

"I'm just leaving . . ." What right had he to come along and break her gilded bauble? Why couldn't he stay away and let her float it among the stars and pretend that it was jeweled and eternal?

He did not move to let her pass.

"Judy, will you dine with me tonight? I'll be finished in a few moments."

She shook her head. Better not to open up that. Unless—perhaps he had not become engaged to Abbey. After all, she had not waited to hear. But if he had not, he had been discourteously rude. Still—he might have broken it, when he learned — no, IF he learned—about the dog.

"But your fiancee . . ." she said waiting for him to shake his head and end the nightmare.

He did not smile. "She won't care."

"I haven't congratulated you. May I?"

"If you wish. I'd like to see you."

"I'm ever so busy. The contest and the new job I'm taking—" Contests and new jobs. Foolish things with which to fill the days from now until she didn't care any longer that a girl named Abbey, a scheming, ruthless, glittering creature, could reach out and take what she wished. Only five minutes ago, her award had been so important. How could life change so quickly?

* * *

Ronald closed the door into the older attorney's office and drew Judy down the hall.

"Try to understand about everything, Judy. Some day you will."

"Oh, I do now. Perfectly!" Then, because he looked so tired, so serious in his entreaty, she added: "'You'll go far, Ronald. I want you to. I'll root every mile of the way. Never forget that."

His hand closed over hers. "I won't, Judy. Not ever!"

Her eyes were almost black with their unshed tears when she reached the street.

COULDN'T FIND A THING TO HELP STOMACH UNTIL SHE TOOK VENDOL

Vendol is the famous root, herb and alkaline medicine now being introduced here that quickly relieves nervous indigestion, gas in the stomach, dizziness, and other disorders due to constipation.

Every man and woman suffering with troubles in the stomach due to constipation, should visit the Vendol Man at Weinberger's Drug Store and learn about this great compound. Vendol actually contains double the quantity of medicine usually found in ordinary remedies. Every dose carries beneficial medicine to the stomach where it is delivered to the organ that is out of order and giving trouble. That is why Vendol quickly relieves so many ailments caused by constipation that makes the sufferer think he has a bad liver, deranged kidneys, rheumatism and a dozen other things.

From the scores of people all over this section who have taken Vendol and received quick results, and highly praise it, we print the following recommendation from Mrs. J. G. Elliott, highly respected housewife, who lives at 1242 Lincoln Way, West, Massillon, Ohio, who says:

"I used to be so restless and nervous at night that I'd toss and roll for hours fighting to get to sleep but it was a losing battle, and as a result I'd get up in the morning just about as tired as when I went to bed. I complained a good deal with nervous headaches and pains in my back and limbs, and had no appetite for even the best meal. The gas in my stomach was very bad, often giving me a full, bloated feeling with sharp pains and belching.

"In just a few days time Vendol had relieved my constipation and

MRS. J. G. ELLIOTT

I began to improve in every way, and by the time I had finished the first bottle, I was sleeping like a log all night long. Now I feel like another person. The headaches and pains in my arms and legs have vanished, I'm able to sit down and enjoy my meals as much as anyone. My digestion is so much better that all signs of the gas have disappeared. I thought I had a serious complaint, but Vendol has made me feel wonderful."

Vendol owes its astonishing virture of bringing relief to its excellent formula of good old roots and herbs combined with alkalines. It relieves constipation, helps sweeten the stomach, acts as a mild diuretic to the kidneys and is a splendid appetizer.

Come to Weinberger's Drug Store, 32 N. Main St., and ask for the Vendol Man. He will courteously explain how this remarkable medicine will help you. Come today if possible—there is no charge. Most all leading druggists now sell Vendol.

PUMP WATER

Cows on Ohio Farm Fill Up Their Own Trough.

RICHWOOD, O.—(U.P.)—Cows on the farm of John A. Scharf, 71-year-old Richwood farmer-inventor, have been pumping their own drinks of water ever since the installation of the pump invented by Scharf and his brother, Joseph Scharf, 65, Portage, O.

A thirsty cow on the Scharf farm enters the device at a gate at the lower end of an enclosure, steps on a treadle platform which is raised at one end.

The weight of the animal forces the platform down, which in turn pumps water into a trough, closes the gate through which the cow has passed and opens another near the trough.

When the cow leaves, the platform returns to its former position, allows the water to drain out of the trough, closes the gate at the trough and re-opens the lower gate.

Each cow is supplied with a fresh drink of water and running water is available the year round.

TRAFFIC TOLL DROPS IN U. S.

Deaths 21 Per Cent Lower Than Year Ago, Council Says.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The nation's traffic death total for the first nine months of 1938 was 21 per cent less than that of the corresponding period last year.

The National Safety council said the gains were general from coast to coast and that September was the ninth consecutive month this year to show a substantial reduction in fatalities.

There were 22,130 persons killed in traffic accidents during the first nine months of 1938, compared with 27,950 for the first nine in 1937.

Thieves Steal Their Cruiser as They Search Stolen Car.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Cruising in a police car, Patrolmen Edward Ryberg and Leo Zack received a radio call today to be on the alert for a stolen automobile occupied by five men. They spied the vehicle parked at a curb. The officers rounded up three of the men, but the other two meanwhile escaped—in the police cruiser. It later was found abandoned.

Recovery motto for America: Build Now!

Democracy is intended to be a government "by the people," not BUY the people.

Folks who think the world owes them a living seem to regard Uncle Sam as the delivery boy.

Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin seem determined that Europe shall move forward to the middle ages.

Charges and Affidavits.

CHARLES SAWYER, Democratic nominee for governor, presents affidavits in support of charges that John W. Bricker, his Republican opponent, has entered into a "deal" with Martin L. Davey, who still holds the office of governor, by which Davey will retain 30 per cent of state patronage, in the event of Bricker's election.

Sawyer's charges that Davey, still sulking after his August defeat for third-term nomination, is throwing his support to Bricker, checks so well with what might be expected of Davey that there seems little reason to question the authenticity of the evidence presented in support thereof.

According to a Cleveland Plain Dealer editorial: "Mr. Bricker calls the reported deal a 'fraud and a fiction.' The answer, then, seems to be that the managers of the Bricker campaign have made the agreement without the candidate's knowledge. We choose to accept this explanation."

It is extremely unfortunate that the malignant Davey influence should in any way be injected into the present campaign, or that the present Democratic nominee should be made to suffer from an attempt by Davey to sacrifice his own political party to satisfy a grudge against the man who defeated him in the primaries, and of whom he said. "Sawyer will never be governor of Ohio."

Such a secret agreement as is charged, supported by affidavits, is the sort of trickery that tends to stigmatize politics and disgust honest voters.

Charles Sawyer's record for honesty and dependability has been such as to warrant belief that he would not make charges unsupported by sufficient evidence to constitute proof.

Pension Scheme Promoters Getting Rich.

PROMOTION of so-called "pension plans" of one sort or another has developed, within the past few years, into a profitable racket through which a considerable number of unscrupulous persons have been enabled to become wealthy at the expense of several million gullible men and women who have been misled into believing that some one of the fantastic schemes can be put into effect.

Payment of pensions to deserving elderly people who, through force of circumstances, are no longer able to meet their own costs of comfortable living, is being increasingly recognized as an obligation resting upon others who are fortunately in position to work and earn.

But that pensions should extend to such a ludicrous figure as $200 a month for persons over 60 years of age, or $30 a week for unemployed persons above 50, makes the whole idea so grotesque that sound judgment must reject it as impracticable.

All men and women who earn and save, with a view to providing for their own needs and caring for themselves in the future, must understand that pensions are paid out of their own earned surplus—AND THAT THERE MUST BE A SURPLUS BEFORE ANY PENSIONS CAN BE PAID!

It will scarcely be denied that at least some who are ardent supporters of what is known as the Townsend pension plan—which was originally based on payment of $200 a month to persons above 60 (or $400 a month to a man and his wife) never earned that much money during their most productive years.

It is also entirely likely that many who are now asking $30-every-Thursday, under the new California scheme, never earned that much per week.

Heretofore there has been a rather tolerant attitude toward such visionary schemes but it appears that the time has arrived for all thoughtful persons who work and earn, to express themselves firmly against further promotion of any pension proposal that does not meet the test of common sense.

The Seventeenth congressional district, of which Richland county is a part, will give opportunity, at next week's election, for a direct test of this issue. Congressman William A. Ashbrook being opposed for re-election by Walter B. Woodward, whose sole claim to qualifications is that he is a Townsendite.

Congressman Ashbrook, long-time advocate of sound pension legislation, rightly refused to endorse the Townsend plan and, as a result, Republican and Democratic Townsendites joined at the Republican primaries to nominate Woodward to oppose him.

More Danger of Fire In Winter.

A GRAPH prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows that fire losses usually increase at an alarming rate from September to December. "The reason for this is obvious," states the board. "People start their stoves and furnaces as soon as cool weather arrives; in many cases neglecting to check over their heating plants. As a result, there is an epidemic of serious fires from defective equipment."

Soot-loaded chimneys are a major hazard. It is important to check up on chimneys for cracks and holes, and to clean the flues every year. Flue linings are essential for safety.

Also, sagging, rusted smoke pipes cause trouble. Sparks may fly out and start a fire. Don't take this chance! Install a new pipe a safe distance from combustibles.

Another cause is overheated stoves and furnaces, the result of poor maintenance and faulty operation. If you don't get as much warmth as you should, the heater is probably out of order. You should consult a heating expert. Never "force" the fire in cold weather. Keep your heating plant clean and in good repair. Use metal containers for hot ashes.

Another thing our civilization could do without is the crime and horror magazine. And half the other magazines.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — On a quiet Friday afternoon when the capital was drifting into its weekend doldrums Justice Brandeis leaned across the high court bench and opened a line of questioning and argument that brought broad smiles to New Dealers in the court chambers and well nigh sent the conservative and mid-way elements of the court into convulsions.

This was the situation:

In 1933 the department of agriculture held that livestock commissioners in the Kansas City stockyards were charging excessive rates for handling the sale of cattle shipped there by farmers. The department ordered a schedule of lower rates.

* * *

Difference of $500,000.

THE commissioners went to court. A decree resulted under which the difference between the old fees and the lower new rates would be impounded. It amounted to more than a half million dollars in four years.

The commissioners won a decision, the supreme court holding that the secretary of agriculture had erred in his method of arriving at the lower schedule of rates. The court found that the commissioners had not been given a fair hearing so the new schedule was held invalid. If that ruling held, the commissioners would get the impounded half million.

But the department argued that the money should be returned to the farmers who had paid the fees in the first place. So, it came to the supreme court again with a new appeal. This time the department argued that it should be allowed to correct the error. Why not hold hearings at which the commissioners could present their case? That would give the department an opportunity to legalize its schedule of rates.

Frederick H. Wood, of New York, attorney for the commissioners, denounced such a procedure. The department made a mistake in fixing the rates, didn't it? The commissioners should be entitled to the impounded moneys, shouldn't they?

* * *

Brandeis Puts Question.

AT THAT point Justice Brandeis intervened with his series of questions, which were phrased in the nature of arguments. Wouldn't it be all right, he said in effect, if courts cooperated with such executive branches as the department of agriculture to permit them to correct mistakes? Such cooperation, he argued, between the judicial and executive branches would improve government.

Such "cooperation" was just what New Dealers have been asking of the courts. It was President Roosevelt's own idea of what the supreme court should do. But it was obvious the supreme court was not 100 per cent in sympathy with making the courts a backstop for federal blunders. Chief Justic Hughes, a mid-way member, rocked forward in his chair and looked sharply at the clock to indicate the attorney's time had expired.

* * *

'Twasn't on Purpose.

ATTORNEY WOOD, obviously impatient at such a line of question-argument, pleaded that the department of agriculture had committed a "deliberate, flagrant violation of law" in ordering the lower rates into effect without proper hearings.

"Deliberate," agreed Brandeis, "but not intentional."

At that point Justice McReynolds, arch-conservative member, who had been gazing at the lotus flowers on the ceiling, abruptly swung around to Justice Butler, another conservative, and almost growled:

"Deliberate, but not intentional!"

The hearing ended and Robert H Jackson and Ben Cohen, New Deal legalites, strolled out smiling broadly.

WELL, THAT'S GOOD NEWS!

U. S. Criticism Annoys Hitler

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Diplomatic relations between Washington and Berlin are beginning to verge on the rather unpleasant. There is no definite friction or any prospect of it in the immediate future.

Nevertheless Germany is perfectly aware that Uncle Sam's administration is not overly friendly to Nazi-ism, and our own government is equally aware that the Nazis reciprocate its tacit dislike of their system.

Italian Fascism also doubtless is looked on somewhat askance by the state department. However, Signor Mussolini never has been quite so crass as Herr Hitler.

Japan, the third of the world's totalitarian powers, has been tolerably civil in its relationships with the United States. True, we sympathize with China and the Mikado unquestionably knows it. And there have been some little "incidents" between us in connection with Nippon's activities on the Asiatic mainland and its rivers. All the same, Washington and Tokia mutually have preserved the amenities.

Russia Friendliest.

Among the dictatorships I think Russia is the country toward which our officialdom entertains the kindliest feelings. Even that isn't so very kindly either, but it's notorious that Germany and Russia are hostile to one another, and, of the two, at present we most dislike Germany.

There is evident a sentiment in our foreign office to the effect that Britain and France have "dumped" democracy; but that's a feeling of sorrow, not of anger.

Of course this country is scandalized by Nazi treatment of the German Jews and Catholics, and by Hitlerism's domestic methods generally.

But all that's not our business.

It's when Nazi-ism tries to set up its organization in our own midst that it becomes irritating. The movement may not have been inspired from overseas, but there's a suspicion of it.

There has been, too, this German spy trial in New York. It's been ridiculous—with its revelations of amateurishness and of $50 monthly salaries to espionage agents—but it has succeeded in "sideswiping" German Ambassador Dieckhoff, in Washington. It's reported that he shortly is to go home in consequence. That's quite a major development.

Then, t.. re was the case of our late ambassador to Berlin, William E. Dodd. After a short stay in the German capital he was so disguested with Nazi-ism that he resigned, returned to the U. S. A., and, ever since, has been "panning" Hitler unmercifully.

Before that, it will be recalled that Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York urged that Herr Hitler's image ought to be displayed in a "chamber of horrors" at New York's 1939 World's fair.

Yet more recently Bernard Baruch has dwelt upon the necessity for a world-wide democratic armament against totalitarianism.

Whose Business It Is?

Herr Hitler doesn't like this kind of anti-Nazi chattiness in non-German countries.

He suggests that folk like La Guardia, Dodd and Baruch ought to be muzzled, and that our newspapers ought to be muzzled likewise.

Answered to the effect that President Roosevelt hasn't the authority to muzzle such spokesmen or the press in the U. S. A. Hitler rejoins that HE can do it in Germany. Why can't President Roosevelt do it here? If he can't, says Hitler, he should be able to.

Why, he queries, isn't our government able to do so?

Incidentally Adolf sketches governments in Britain, France and elsewhere that will be acceptable to him. He hasn't dictated to Uncle Sam yet, but he may presently.

He has a pretty clear idea already as to what our policy should be in Latin America.

Delaware Paper For Ashbrook

(Editor's Note: The following editorial endorsement of Congressman William A. Ashbrook by the Delaware Gazette is of special interest as it presents the views of a newspaper that has been steadfastly Republican through several generations.)

PARTY LINES SHOULD GO

An unusual situation, one which will very likely result in an almost entire obliteration of party lines in the forthcoming election, faces the voters in the Seventeenth congressional district, of which Delaware county is a part. This condition is brought about by the candidacy of Walter B. Woodward of Richland county, an avowed Townsend plan candidate, who gained the Republican nomination last August, and who will oppose William A. Ashbrook, Democratic nominee for re-election.

We hold no animosity for Mr. Woodward, but most emphatically we do not approve the Townsend plan.

In these columns we have more than once previously expressed our opinion that the plan was unsound and incapable of operation. We have in no wise changed our opinion of the measure, so it is unnecessary to discuss that further.

William A. Ashbrook's record we know. He has been an ardent advocate of pensions, himself, and has secured many for widows of soldiers, but he is unalterably opposed to the Townsend plan. He cannot be termed a "rubber stamp" congressman for his negative votes on the supreme court bill and the reorganization bill, are matters of public record. He has been attentive to the appeals of the people of his district and he has served them well.

The contest therefore will not be between a Republican and a Democrat, as would ordinarily be the case, but between an advocate of the $200 a month Townsend plan and a level-headed congressman who recognizes the utter impossibility of the Townsend proposal and its related $30 every Thursday pension fantasy.

And it is on these premises that we say party lines should be of little consequence in the voting for congressman. On the part of many there has been a spirit of mild tolerance toward the Townsend plan, the attitude being that it was a harmless illusion, which would soon run its course. This attitude can no longer be maintained when it involves the possibility of sending to congress a man whose claims to qualification are based on this fantastic pension plan.

Duties of Proteins.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PROTEIN FOOD is that which is like the tissues of the animal body themselves; that is, milk (four per cent of which is protein), eggs, meat and cheese. Some vegetables have high amounts of protein—peas and beans and nuts, especially. This protein is in a vegetable form and is not as easily utilized as animal protein, but strict vegetarians must get their protein from this source.

The proteins are versatile and perform a number of functions in the body.

They are absolutely necessary for growth; not all of them, but certain special ones are absolutely necessary.

They replace tissue loss. During a fast the body loses nitrogen very rapidly. Nitrogen is the element present in the protein and not present in any other foods. The rapidity with which the body loses nitrogen is a measurement of tissue loss in a fasting state.

They can be used for energy, in which case they are converted by the body into sugar.

Possibly they can be converted into fat.

The question as to what form of protein we should select for our regular food is the subject of debates, usually conducted with more emotion than science.

Meat is the central part of this battle ground. All vegetarians eschew meat. Strict vegetarians do not eat any animal protein on the grounds that they are all poisonous. Ethical vegetarians forbid only meat, because of the cruelty of slaughtering animals, but they eat milk and eggs. So they get good animal protein. There was never any human being who lived from birth to death a strict vegetarian. Everybody got protein in mother's milk, or whatever milk was fed in infancy. It would be pretty hard to arrange a diet for a baby without milk. Pretty hard? What weak words!

The idea that animal proteins ferment in the intestine and are poisonous is sheer nonsense. If proteins are poisonous, we are living in a lake of poison because we are breaking down animal proteins in our bodies every day.

Meat has somehow gotten a very bad name. Why, it is hard to tell, because it is a splendid food, and it appeals instinctively to the human appetite. It can be said quite definitely that it does not cause kidney disease, arthritis, hardening of the arteries or high blood pressure. In fact, many of my friends in the medical profession have abandoned the old idea of withholding meat from their kidney and high blood pressure cases, and now are feeding them meat.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Oct. 31, 1918.

All parties and Halloween gatherings were forbidden by city health department because of the flu epidemic.

Frank B. Willis, candidate for governor, addressed a mass meeting in Central park.

Walter Henry Oakes, 284 Newman street, died after several days illness from the flu.

Announcements were sent out of the birth of a son to Attorney and Mrs. William F. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Baer, 266 South Main street, went to Ashland for several days before leaving for California to spend the winter.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Oct. 31, 1933.

Floyd Dent, area Boy Scout executive, was confined to his home, 487 West Fourth street, by illness.

Crowd estimated at 10,000 jammed downtown streets to see Halloween parade, as arranged and staged by Fred Hunt.

Mrs. George Bowers, Sturges avenue, was hostess to members of Tourist club.

Martha Hartman was elected president of the girls glee club of John Simpson junior high school.

Mrs. William Berno, Park avenue west, was in New York on business.

A Farmer's Diary

Wild Asters.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

FOR several weeks, the roadsides, the early cultivated fields, the pastures and the fencerows have stood a riot of delicate colored hues, while the wild asters, members of the chrysanthemum family, bloomed.

I watched these hardy plants from early spring until heavy frost. They grew by the wayside, throughout the summer, unnoticed save for their thrifty green leaves and stems. The fleshy roots were matted in thick clumps beneath the turf.

Often I have pulled heavily at the wooded stems, in shaded spots, and always heaved out a generous portion of soil above the whited, persistent roots. Competing with grass, brambles, wild sunflowers, and elder thickets, for nourishment, and moisture, they ask no quarter, but raise their slender forms from thin, impoverished soil, broad branching to the sun.

Drought nor pests affect them. Even when October nights are clear and cold, I have seen a killing frost wither the corn, leave only heavy stems of pumpkin vines, sever the greenest leaves from nearby trees, but leave the asters, tame and wild, to bloom long afterward.

Along a slow-moving brook no more than a week ago, I saw the mirrored reflection of the calico and blue-stemmed asters that made a lively, checkered border along the winding stream. Bees hummed and droned about the well formed sprays.

The purple aster of pasture and neglected hillside is tall, with lower leaves a faded brown, and peeps through long purple fringes to the amber sky.

They are a hardy race—wild asters—a living challenge for endurance, that cheers our autumn landscape to the last.

Young America Says—

Naturalized Citizens Appreciate America.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT TAKES a naturalized citizen to appreciate the U. S A.!" cries young Mrs. M. H. Miller of Charlotte, N. C., in a letter which should quicken every American's heart to a wider pride and taller patriotism.

"Because I have seen the hopelessness and oppression in other lands," she continues, "I can appreciate the liberty and fairness which America offers me. I love her with every beat of my heart! I will bless and reverence America every day of my life and do all I can to be a good and useful citizen!

"The native-born American, too, often takes his golden opportunities for granted, as he knows nothing else! but an alien from an oppressed land knows the difference.

"My parents brought me over from the old Russia in the steerage. They came from brilliant people but had little or no opportunity to use their fine minds in Russia, as Jews were barred then from everything in that line. So religious avenues were the only ones left open to them, and that meant poverty-ridden homes. Had I remained there, I would have been only one of millions of regimented plodders, drudging my years away in work I despised. In this blessed land, I have been able to educate myself and utilize my talents.

"To the last day of her life, my mother never got over the wonder of America and called it 'The Golden Land.' Millions of other grateful naturalized citizens feel likewise, and consequently show their gratitude by becoming some of our finest and most constructive citizens."

NEXT, a neat hunk of dynamite entitled "A Salute to the Working Woman" from Thomas C. Smeed of Hazel Park, Mich. . . . and with it a BAWLING OUT OF THE AVERAGE MALE which should start plenty, if I know our Lords and Masters!

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"I ardently defend the working woman! Someone has got to work to keep our America from going to the dogs. Man has certainly made a poor job of trying to run this country. Man will always be a cry-baby and a dreamer until he learns to stand on his own feet and substitutes backbone for wishbone.

"Women workers of America, I salute you for your usefulness in every walk of life and your serious attitude toward work. When a man has a job, all he thinks of is a good time—eat, drink, smoke, and play the ponies. If he loses his job, then his mother, wife or sister has to work to keep him—or he goes on the dole. Yet still he yells about Women Workers!

"The famous American Business Man wouldn't make good for a minute if it weren't for his women secretaries. How many husbands would succeed if they couldn't depend on their wives' wits? And don't make any mistake about it, brothers! Women will continue working, no matter what you say . . . and in the end it will be women who'll restore America to prosperity by their determination and industry — rather, than the men who are so busy with their personal grievances that they can't see an inch ahead and don't care what happens to industry or to the nation! AMERICA'S FUTURE PROSPERITY DEPENDS ON HER WOMEN."

Whew! So how about it, gentlemen?

* * *

AND here's another startler—which carries my 100 per cent vote with it.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"I wish I could believe that the present 'peace' in Europe would last—but I can't. Moreover, I believe American will be drawn into the inevitable clash unless—

"WE YOUNG AMERICANS ABSOLUTELY REFUSE TO FIGHT!

"Let Europe wash its own dirty linen in the blood of youth! For myself, I will not join any army, any time, nor fight any battle, no matter what the Cause, except to repel an invasion from our shores. Call it cowardice if you will, but I prefer this beautiful earth and busy life to a stinking hole on some forgotten battlefield—and I believe all truth and justice are behind me!"

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — At one of those caviar soirees for a visiting fox hunter the hostess was moaning over the shortcomings of her new butler. Just then the inept Jeeves came in and slipped on a rug, spilling a tray of cocktail glasses and causing no end of confusion. "See!" cried the dowager. "Every day he gets worse — and today he's like tomorrow!"

As guest artist on a recent broadcast Basil Rathbone was asked to identify certain quotations from Shakespeare, and he did this so beautifully, following each question with long recitations, that even his confreres on the program burst into applause.

"It's a pleasure to hear Shakespeare read so beautifully," admitted the master of ceremonies. "Mr. Rathbone, you ought to be an actor."

It happened in a backstage dressingroom five years ago. Raymond Massey, the English actor, was talking to two Broadway reporters, and he said: "I think Abraham Lincoln is history's most interesting American. I'd like to play him on the stage, if someone wrote a good play about him."

All of which proves that dreams do come true, even for actors. Massey has now been given the role of Lincoln as a young man on the midwest plains—before he reaches the White House. The title of the play is "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." The author is Robert Sherwood, Pulitzer prize winner, and the world's tallest playwright.

An inveterate between-the-act smoker at the theater is George Jessel, who admits that he has abandoned Hollywood for good. At a recent first night the comedian found himself blocked from the aisle by a stout and unbudging dowager who glared hostilely at him when he tried to ease past her and into the aisle, so that he could gain the foyer for a smoke.

Later, at the second act curtain, the good George again desired to converse with friends in the lobby. Noting her displeasure, Jessel raised his hand, leaned close, and solmenly told her, "Madame, on my honor as an ex-boy scout, a scholar, and a gentleman, I swear not to bother you again this night if you will let me pass."

Giving George a hasty glance, the amazed dowager gathered her skirts about her and fled into the lobby—where she calmly had a smoke herself.

At last, it is explained how the Queen of Bermuda made such a fine showing in the recent international lifeboat races. The sailors enjoyed the expert advice of Doris Humphrey, the dancer, who went up to Poughkeepsie and privately supervised the boys in some much needed exercises. She also boarded the lifeboat and, pounding a tom tom, proceeded to beat a fine sense of rhythm into the stroke. Those early morning spins on the river were exciting, she confesses. How came Miss Humphrey so interested in the Bermuda? Her husband is an officer aboard that craft.

Anyway, in covering the actual race, one sports writer came nearer the truth than he realized. In his story appeared this sentence: "The Queen of Bermuda boat fairly danced over the waves."

RAIL LINES TO O.K. 'VERDICT,' CAPITAL HEARS

'Fight's Over,' Opinion Given as Board Rules Against 15 Per Cent Pay Cut.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Railroad acceptance of the findings of President Roosevelt's emergency board against the 15 per cent wage cut sought by the carriers today appeared a virtual certainty.

Danger of a nationwide rail strike consequently appeared averted.

While road executives maintained official silence since the findings of the board were made public Saturday, privately they expressed almost unanimous opinion that the fight is over and that they have lost. In view of the board's recommendation, they appeared to believe that the wisest policy for them was to keep step with the president's determination to maintain wages at the highest possible level.

Today, the roads were already turning their studies toward a legislative program through which they can seek help for their present distressed condition from congress.

Sees Roosevelt Today.

The president was to confer with J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, and George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executives' association, during the day, but prior to that Pellen was to meet with members of the carriers' joint conference committee. This group, headed by H. A. Enochs, was established for the purpose of negotiating the wage cut. Enochs said that at this morning's meeting there was little for the committee to do but refer the wage-cut question back to the individual roads.

This action will drop on the shoulders of each individual road the burden of compliance or rejection of the emergency board's recommendation against the pay cut. In the face of administration recommendations against it, and the certainty of a strike, it would be a brave road indeed that would risk a wage-cut on its own, the rail chiefs pointed out.

The railway presidents themserves will meet a little later in the week, to take formal action on the emergency board report. Because this meeting was scheduled, it appeared unlikely that Pelley would have authority to give President Roosevelt any definite answer to the board findings, but he will acquaint Mr. Roosevelt with the general feeling among the railroad leaders. The president is expected to give Pelley a message for the roads, urging them to accept the findings against a pay cut at this time.

It is likely, too, that the president will urge Pelley and Harrison to get together the special six-man operators-labor committee which he named about a month ago to work out a legislative program for the roads. This committee, consisting of three representatives of labor and three railway executives, held one meeting in the cabinet room at the White House, and adjourned upon the assertion of the labor members that they could not give attention to legislative problems until the wage controversy was settled.

BUCYRUS CHIEF STRUCK BY AUTO

80-Year-Old Police Head Taken To Hospital After Accident.

BUCYRUS—The condition of Chief of Police Philip Trautman, 80, head of the Bucyrus police department for nearly 50 years, was reported as not serious today by attaches at City hospital where he is recovering from injuries suffered Saturday night when struck by a car.

Chief Trautman received a lacerated scalp and bruises on the left leg when he was struck by a car driven by Elmer Even of Bucyrus at Sandusky and Rensselear street. Even, who took the chief to the hospital, told police he did not see Trautman as he started to go across the intersection on a traffic light change.

France to intervene, and upon Great Britain to go to the aid of France."

But that "unbearable pressure" was only "unbearable" because it forced the Czechoslovak government to believe if it did fight it would fight alone. Its terms were reluctantly revealed at the end of the debate in the house when the telegram sent by Lord Halifax to the British minister in Prague was finally read. It was this telegram delivered at 2:00 a. m., to Benes, which broke Czech resistance. Its pertinent sentences were:

"The Anglo-French proposals remain in our view the only chance of avaiding an immediate German attack . . . We therefore beg the Czech government to consider urgently and seriously before producing a situation for which we could take no responsibility."

In the mind of Europe today, as well as in the mind of the tortured President Benes on that fateful morning, these words could only mean that Britain would not march to support her ally France if France marched to support her ally, Czechoslovakia. France would not march without Britain. Hence Benes yielded because France and Britain broke their treaties.

It is true that by strict construction of the law Britain violated no pledge, inasmuch as she was obligated to support France only if France were attacked by Germany. In this case France would have been compelled to take the offensive.

Yesterday the whole of the western world opposed Germany's will to conquer Europe; today there are half-heartedly against her only the discredited, disconsolate, almost dispairing Britain and France, shorn of their glory, bullied by Hitler, doubtful now if they can defend their own soil against the Teuton colossus. This mood may pass, but it is painfully dominant now.

Who then would be with Germany in the war tomorrow? How have the moral and material odds changed? Is it possible that the two great empires of Britain and France should have surrendered not only their friend, but their own security? What are Hitler's final aims? Would Europe satisfy him?

WEEK TO GO

$8,000 Still Due in Taxes for Conservancy District.

With only a week remaining for payment of Mansfield Conservancy district taxes without penalty, approximately $8,000 of the taxes due this year were still unpaid today, Russell K. Erdenberger, deputy county treasurer, said.

Payments so far have totaled $28,200, while the charge for the year was $36,000.

A 10 per cent penalty, plus interest, will be collected on conservancy taxes which are paid after this week, Erdenberger said. The conservancy tax is collected in Mansfield and a small part of Madison township.

The conservancy levy in the Mansfield area is collected to pay off bonds issued several years ago to finance a flood control project in the city area. The project never materialized.

TALKS TO FORUM

Miller Asserts Young People Facing 3 Challenges.

Three challenges that face young people were cited by W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, in a talk before the Community Christian Youth Forum Sunday evening at the First Congregational church.

Discussing "Youth Faces Its Problems," Miller pointed out that the young people meet three challenges, the challenge of the past, present and future.

"The challenge of the past," Miller said, "is that this nation was reared in the luxury of hardship. The present challenge is that what you are to be, and the future challenge is expressed in the fundamental truth that a nation is only as great as its uncoerced character."

Ruth Preston, Merle Abele, and Robert Meese were in charge of the devotional period, and Henry Sanford, president, presided during the business session. The meeting next Sunday will be at the First Presbyterian church when the annual Prince of Peace Declamation contest will be held.

chief of the division of aid for the aged, the social security board sent its representative, Robert C. Goodwin, to call upon him to offer co-operation and ascertain what his plans were to correct the 12 major administrative deficiencies which his predecessor had agreed to correct.

Davey Non-Committal.

"He refused to make any specific commitments on these points. On Oct. 10 the board wrote Governor Davey offering it co-operation but has received no reply except a copy of a newspaper release by the governor, dated Oct. 21. On Oct. 26, the board again sent its representative to call upon Mr. Bevens to offer co-operation and ascertain what had been done by Mr. Bevens to correct the 12 administrative deficiencies. Mr. Bevens again refused to make any written statement or report or any commitment either oral or in writing on these 12 points.

"Mr. Bevens persists in this refusal although both the Ohio old age assistance law and the social security act require him to make such reports as the social security board shall request.

"Because of this refusal by the chief of the division of aid for the aged and because any instructions which may have been issued to the staff of the organization have all been by word of mouth only, it is impossible for the social security board to determine what is the present form of organization, what are the functions of the various officials, what procedures are being followed, what standards are being observed and whether there is any consistency in policies and practices.

"Therefore the social security board is unable to make a finding that there is no longer a failure to comply with the provisions of the social security act which finding is necessary before the board can certify a grant to the secretary of the treasury.

"The board deeply regrets the needless suffering caused by the failure of the Ohio division of aid for the aged to furnish the information necessary for the social security board to make a finding, and which information similar agencies in all other states have always furnished freely as a matter of course."

REJECTS PLEA FOR TROOPS IN TOBACCO STRIKE

Marx Says Injunction From Courts Necessary Before State Could Act.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Troops will not be sent into Middletown in the P. Lorillard Tobacco company strike until an injunction has been issued and that injunction violated, Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx announced today.

A plea for troops to enable the company to reopen the factory was made at a conference here last night between Middletown officials, Governor Davey and national guard officers.

Must Be Violated First.

"The situation is quiet in Middletown now," General Marx said. "We will not send in troops until an injunction has been issued by the courts restraining the strikers and that injunction has been violated."

Officials of Butler county and Middleton requested troops to permit reopening of the plant, strike-bound since Oct. 3. The request was made in a conference with the governor which lasted until midnight.

Walter J. Braun, city manager of Middletown, was spokesman for the group, telling the governor that the community faced disorder unless troops were sent for the opening.

Although Lorillard officials did not attend the conference they are ready to reopen when assured of adequate police protection, Braun told Governor Davey.

The strike was called by the Pioneer Tobacco Workers local, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, on Oct. 3, when, according to the union, the company refused to bargain with them. The company claims the union does not represent a majority of the 1,000 workers in the plant.

300 Volunteers Ready.

Braun told the governor that 300 persons volunteered at Middletown for police duty in response to a plea from the Retail Merchants association, for an organized "show of opposition" to the CIO.

"These men, untrained and unorganized, could not cope with the larger number of armed pickets the CIO would import to meet them," Braun told Governor Davey. "Unless we get troops there might be bloodshed."

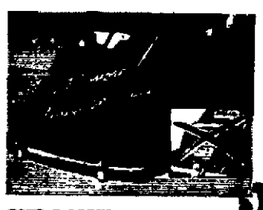
Bigger, Finer...Priced Even Lower Than Last Year's Dodge!

NOW ON DISPLAY! ...TAKE A LOOK!

PROUDLY Dodge presents the new Luxury Liner...the greatest car ever to bear the famous Dodge name! Sparkling in its new beauty of form and line, this new Dodge marks an outstanding achievement in motor-car history! As Dodge's Silver Anniversary Creation, this brilliantly conceived new car is a triumphant climax to a 25-year record of fine car building. It's on display now. Take a look—that's all Dodge asks!



TAKE A LOOK! New Styling of Rear Ensemble! Graceful sloping lines, which flow back to tail-light in one smooth, unbroken contour, completely conceal the new-type Dodge luggage compartment which is 27% larger than old "trunk style" compartment.

TAKE A LOOK! New easier way to shift gears—with a handy control near the steering wheel! You shift in the same "H" pattern—nothing new, to learn! Not an "attachment" but an integral unit of the car. Front floor is clear!

TAKE A LOOK! New Individual-Action Front Wheel Springing, with spiral-type springs of Amola Steel, levels out the road—makes driving a thrilling experience!

NEW headlamps mounted in front fenders for safer night driving! Thirteen inches wider apart and closer to road, they more clearly define limits of the car for oncoming motorist—afford greater visibility in rain, fog and dust!

NEW Luxury Liner Interior—wider, roomier Chair-Height Seats...gorgeous upholstery...stunning hardware...plus many more refinements that make this new Dodge every inch a "Luxury Liner!"

NEW "Safety Light" Speedometer carries ahead on the speed indicator which glows green up to 30 miles per hour; amber from 30 to 50; and red beyond 50.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

UNIVERSITY CLUB HAS FIRST SOCIAL AFFAIR

Committee Announces Program of Bridge, Dancing for Coming Season; Schedule Several Holiday Events.

FOLLOWING the first dance of the season, members of the University club social committee announced plans for functions throughout the season. Saturday night's dance at the Mansfield-Leland hotel was attended by 65 couples. Music was provided by Shively-Yates orchestra for the formal affair which was held from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

The next social function will be a buffet-bridge at the hotel Nov. 11. On Nov. 26 Joe Cisco and his Musical Magpies will play for the Thanksgiving dance. Cisco and his orchestra provided music this past summer for Westbrook Country club dancers.

Dec. 30 the club will have its Christmas dance, and Feb. 11 the group will give a Valentine dance. Another buffet-bridge will be held March 11 by the organization. Two more dances, one April 11, and the Spring dance June 3, will close the club season.

Beginning Jan. 26, and continuing each week for six successive weeks the annual bridge tournament for men will be conducted.

Members of the committee on arrangements are Lloyd Brown, chairman, Paul Endriss, John L. Thorne, Merritt Giles, Thornton Moore, Harold Burns, Howard Wenning and Tom Ford.

Make Plans For Tri-Gamma Dance

Announcement was made today by committee members of the plans for a semi-formal dance to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Dec. 17, by four chapters of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority. The affair will be the sixth annual open Christmas dance that the sorority has sponsored.

General chairman is Miss Betty Hammel. Miss Josephine Henness is in charge of tickets, Mrs. John Courtney, orchestra, and Mrs. James Courtney, decorations. Further plans will be made when the Gamma chapter entertains the other three chapters here Nov. 17.

Methodist Women to Meet Here for Officers' Council

MORE than 50 of the major officers of Women's Missionary groups of the Methodist church will be in Mansfield Tuesday and Wednesday to attend the annual Northeast Ohio Conference Officers council which will be held at the Central Methodist Episcopal church. District and branch officers and returned missionairies will be the special guests.

The affair, which is under the sponsorship of the Women's Foreign Missionary societies, will include business meetings, annual reports, talks by missionaries and officers, a dinner and a luncheon. The two meals will be served by members of the circles of the Ladies' Aid of the church.

Guests will be entertained in the homes of Methodist women of this city for the two day conference. Mrs. E. C. Jenkins, president of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Central church, is general chairman for the two-day event.

Grape Tones Popular Additions

By BETTY CLARK
(UP Feature Service Writer)

Know your vintages. That goes for party make-up as well as party menus. For vintage tints are in the nail polish, rouge, powder and lipstick on the cosmetics counters.

If you're very blonde you'll have to be awfully careful, of course, about how deeply you go into this vinage business. Extremely purplish lips stand out on a very pale face like neon signs. Even if you buy the powder, rouge and the nail polish to go with them you'd better wear them only in the evening, when you want to create a sensation anyway.

The new powders, however, are happily a far cry from the old mauve evening powders that gave your grandmother's face a marble-like appearance. There's just enough rose in most of them to give your skin a vibrant tint. The rouges, also, have a blue-rose caste that will lend additional color interest to your cheeks.

You might try a bit of eye make-up, too. Black or brown mascara and a touch of orchid eye-shadow will highlight your eyes by day. Switch to orchid eye-shadow by night and they'll acquire a fascinating violet glow.

Exciting Events Promised For Thanksgiving Holiday By Clubs

ANOTHER new month, and it brings with it the first faint hint of holiday entertaining and pre-Thanksgiving entertaining. The first week of November is jammed with all kinds of study club, social organization, and society meetings, but so far the month of the gobbler doesn't look like a favorite of brides.

So far only two approaching marriages have been disclosed. Miss Helen Heitz, 290½ First avenue, will be the bride of George L. LaRue, Ashland, Sunday. The ceremony will be read in Columbus. Miss Ruth Schrantz, 14½ North Diamond street, will be married to Walter Brockwell, Shelby, at Shelby at noon Nov. 19. Thanksgiving day, so far, is not the choice of one bride.

Among the exciting affairs to come this month is lecture luncheon to be sponsored by the Mansfield Federation of Women at the Women's Club Nov. 11. A. B. Sachar will speak on "What Is Youth Thinking?" This same day the University club will entertain with a buffet-bridge at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Tomorrow night members of the Pandora Dance club will sponsor the second dance of the 16th season at Schuler's ballroom. The affair will be from 9:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harpster, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gadfield, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Widders, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boals and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Watkins are in charge. Nels Blocker will furnish the music.

Nov. 22 Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff will journey down from Cleveland to give the second in the series of three book reviews sponsored by the Women's association of the First Congregational church. She will review "My Son, My Son" by Howard Spring at this time.

Following closely together will be the dances of the Our club and the University club. The first group will entertain members at the hotel with a dance Nov. 25, and the next evening members of the latter organization will dance.

ENTERTAIN CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Olinger, Prospect street, entertained members of the Puenta club Saturday at three tables of bridge. Luncheon was served, and prize winners were Mrs. C. P. Smith and Carl Phillipon. Mr. and Mrs. Phillipon, Ridge road, will open their home to the club Nov. 12.

Garnishes often lend magic to simple foods. Here are some for topping creamed soups: chopped parsley or cress, dash of paprika or nutmeg, vegetables cut in fancy shapes, tiny strips of green peppers or pimientos, grated cheese, spoonsful of whipped cream, a dash of horseradish mixed with whipped cream, small toasted crutons, and popped corn.

Have Dinner Party On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Lindsey, 72 Benton street, who were married 50 years ago today at Lisbon, Md., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday with a dinner for 18 at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey were married Oct. 31, 1888.

They are the parents of three children and the grandparents of 10. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lindsey and family, Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and family, Newark, Dr. and Mrs. Albert E. Lindsey and family, Cleveland, and Mrs. E. H. Lindsey, West Third street.

The last two named are cousins of the senior Lindseys, and W. D., Mrs. Wilson, and another son, Elmore E. of New York, N. Y., who was not present, are the children.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yarger, R. D. 5, arrived at Rainbow Springs, Fla., this past week-end.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeVore of Park avenue west road, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schumacker, Brinkhaven, returned Sunday from a week-end visit to Chicago, Ill.

* * *

Mrs. Anna Fridline, Ashland, aunt of Mrs. C. A. Edmonstone, 1035 Park avenue west road, has been the house guest of the Edmonstones the past week.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, 310 Lexington avenue attended the grand ball of the Order of Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple at Columbus last week when the order was in convention there.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glenn and family, Savannah, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ferree, Franklin township, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Winters, West Third street.

* * *

Miss Martha Louise Thompson and Miss Elsie Evans, both teachers at Urbana High school spent the week-end with Miss Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, 310 Lexington avenue.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. Delsher Fridline and son, MacKenzie, and daughter, Deborah, and Miss Katherine Sellers, Ashland, visited Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Edmonstone and children, 1035 Park avenue west road, yesterday.

* * *

Returning from attending the National Dental convention at St. Louis, Mo., Miss Beth Critchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Critchfield, 116 Rae avenue, stopped overnight in Mansfield yesterday before leaving for Cleveland to fly to New York, N. Y.

Juice Combination

A new tangy appetizer is equal portions of tomato and sauerkraut juices. Add a slice of onion for each two cups of combined juice before chilling but remove them before putting the juice on the table.

Cape Cod baked potatoes: Remove the potato from the skin and save the skin. Then mix the potato with cooked codfish and season highly. Stuff the mixture back into the skins, top with butter and bake about ten minutes.

Draped Lace

An American designer fashioned this frock for the woman who prefers covered shoulders in the evening. It's white lace in scroll pattern. On the right shoulder is a scarf which may be worn as a mantilla or over the shoulders.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.
